It's All About Us

Crabbers have an eclectic sense of individuality and cultural diversity, academics, community involvement, and Crabber Pride. In the last class of the 20th century, we have achieved a continuous reputation of style, class, and elevated excellence. In an essence, this school is "all about us".

From hip-hop to hard rock, we represent a wide range of individuality and cultural diversity. Each student has his own view of life and background to add to the multicultural fabric. Despite the differences, we pull together as a large, surrogate family.

Academics is the main focus of our institution. Each faculty member strives to bring out the greatest potential of each student. By doing this, we have constantly produced students that are productive and contribute much to our society--making a difference.

Community involvement is also stressed. Clubs and organizations are known to be affiliated with service projects aimed at bettering the environment and surroundings. Most of our student body takes the initiative to involve themselves in volunteer and community service.

The most important aspects of our school are its honor, integrity, and Crabber Pride. Crabber Pride is shown in every athletic arena and proclaimed throughout the halls. Red and white is proudly worn as everyone chants and knows--"You Can't Crush a Crab!" This spirit is "all about us"!

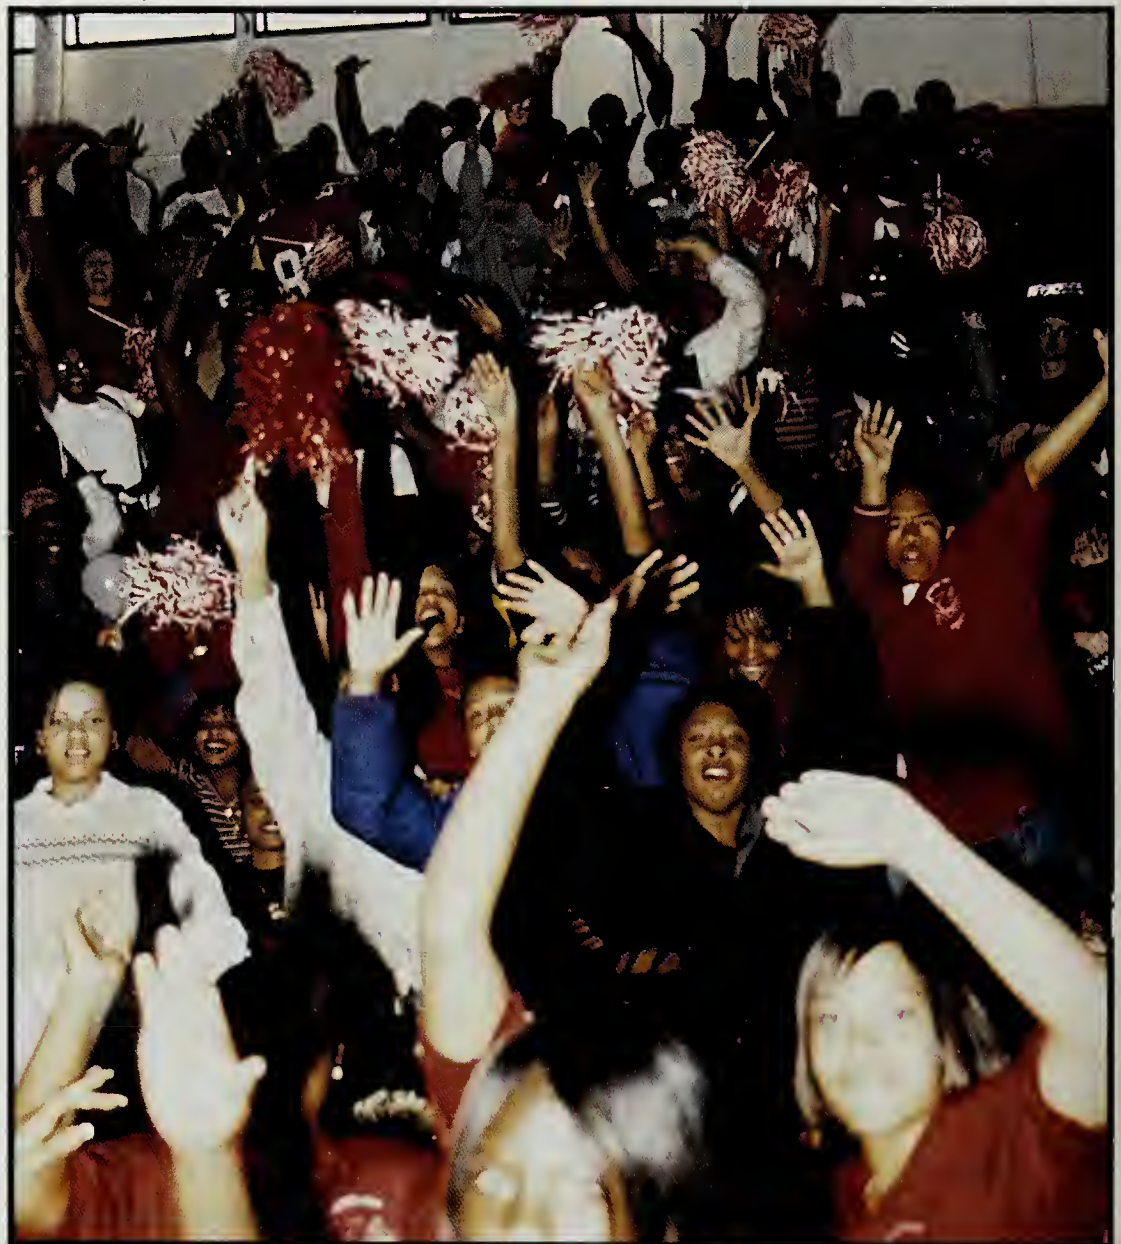

The Crabbers do whatever it takes to be victorious.

Marcus Witherspoon concentrates hard while working on a test.

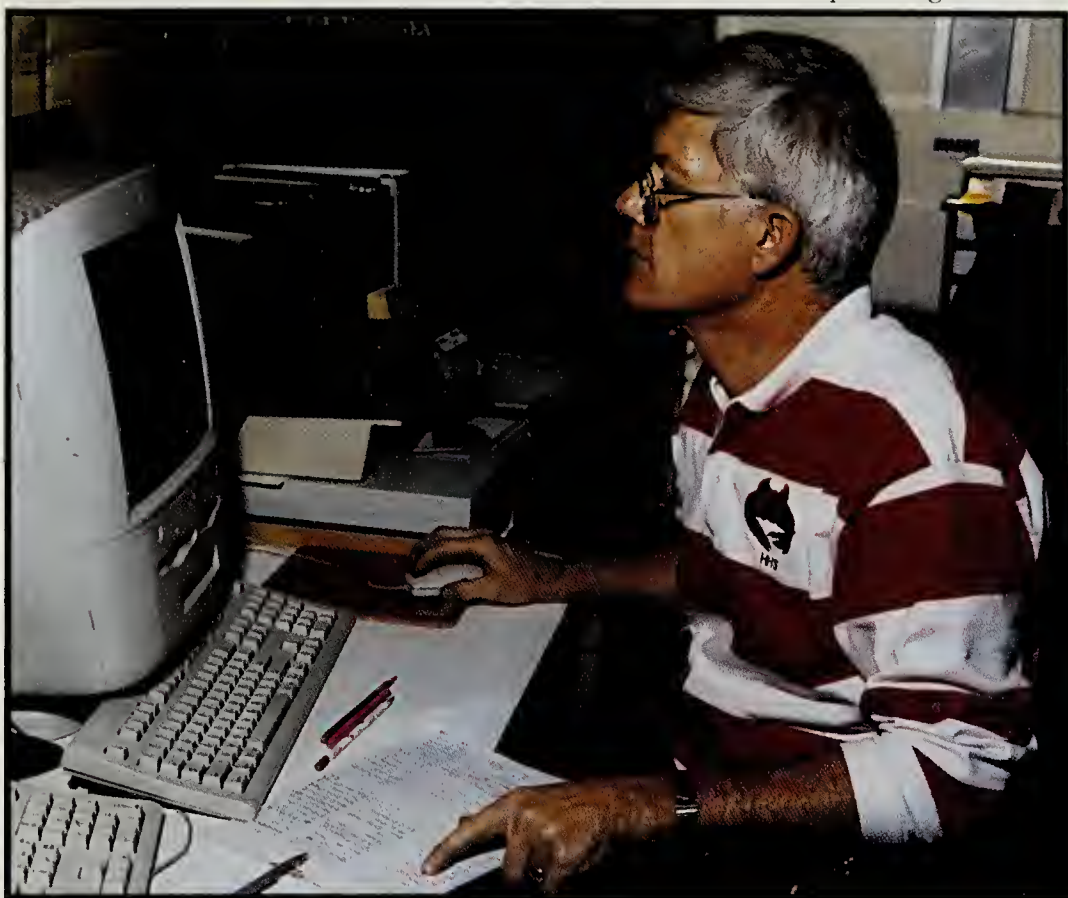

Mr. Johnny Theodore and Mrs. Freda Gist enjoy each other's company in Mr. Theodor's classroom.

Mrs. Iris Lawson, math teacher, sports her red and white on Friday as she gets the day's lesson ready for students.

Mr. Tom Bell works hard putting information in his computer.
Grace Shin works hard on a test in the halls of Hampton High School.

Johnny Smith is in the Hampton High School library expanding his knowledge.

It's All About... Academics

It's all about ... us and academics. Crabbers continue to excel in their academic studies. A variety of foreign languages, AP(Advance Placement) classes, as well as college prep classes, help expand students' knowledge.

Academics are emphasized more seriously than ever before, stressing to students how important courses are. The school system is becoming stricter on credits for graduation , as well as students meeting higher standards and SOL'S .

Teachers are a big influence on students. They continue to motivate and encourage students by providing tutoring classes for those who are seeking help for a particular class and taking time out after class.

A new principal, Dr. James Victory, oversees all programs, and he, the other staff, and seventeen new teachers , help students focus on the most important school essential, academics.

Curtis Pender is looking up information on the computer.

It's All About... Organizations and Clubs

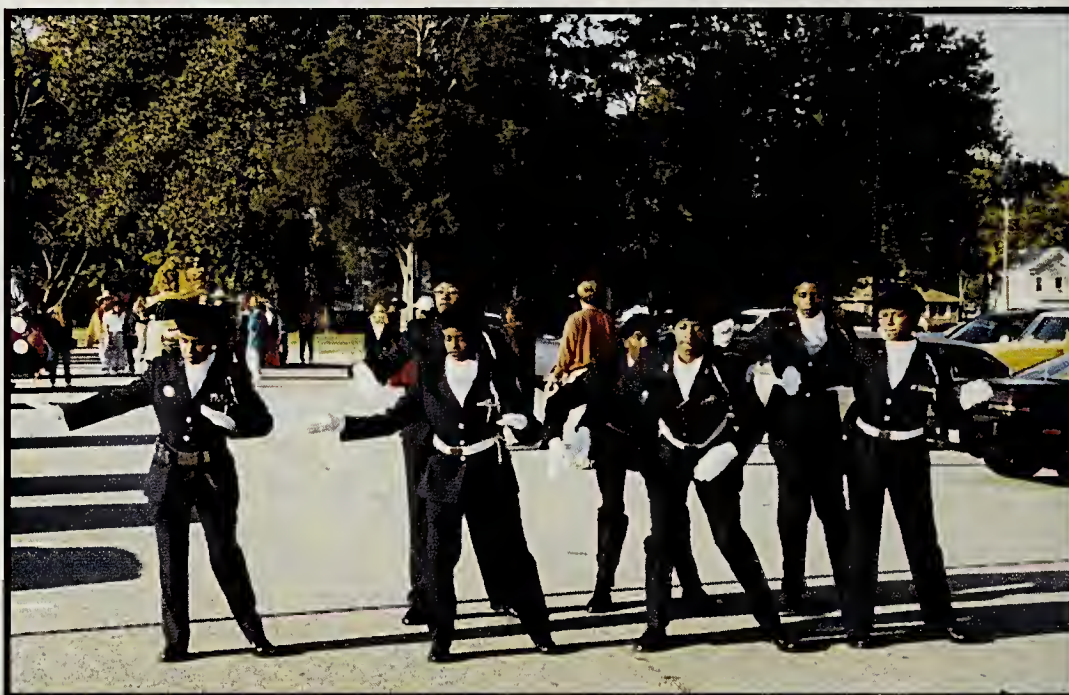

A wide selection of clubs and organizations offers everything from academic clubs to service-oriented groups. From Spanish Honor Society, Chrome, and Mu Alpha Theta to Project Discovery, Key Club and the Antaeus Society, there is a club for everybody here at Hampton High.

Clubs and organizations are a vital part of high school life and help create diversity. The benefits of being in a club are far reaching. Students get the chance to socialize with others who share the same interests, express their views, and show pride in their school.

Center, April Cox and the AFJROTC drill team practice their new routine in preparation for the parade. The Key Club shows off their school spirit with their Homecoming Float.

Coach Mike Smith, Keith Mann and Alfonzo Gunter pace the sidelines in anticipation of another win.

Tia Artis, Lajontae Graves, Tasha McCoy and Denita Wilson get all the particulars about their race from Coaches David Six and Stan Widener.

The tension mounts as Gabe Hillegass waits for his ball to sink in the cup.

It's All About..... Sports!

It's all about our dominating sports in '99 with our impressive track and field, soccer, wrestling, cheerleading, girls tennis, golf, baseball, and football teams. Who could help but be a loyal fan? Hard work, determination, dedication, team work, and a "family" atmosphere contribute to all of our accomplishments and successes. The members of these sports team build friendships and relationships that will last them a life time.

Closing the century in style, the Crabbers continue to dominate in sports and leave behind the legacy of excelling in sports and academics. In the words of Mrs. Patricia Mitchell, Hampton's Athletic Director, "The tradition of Hampton High School athletics is the main thing that makes us excel., May the tradition live on!"

You can't crush a crab!

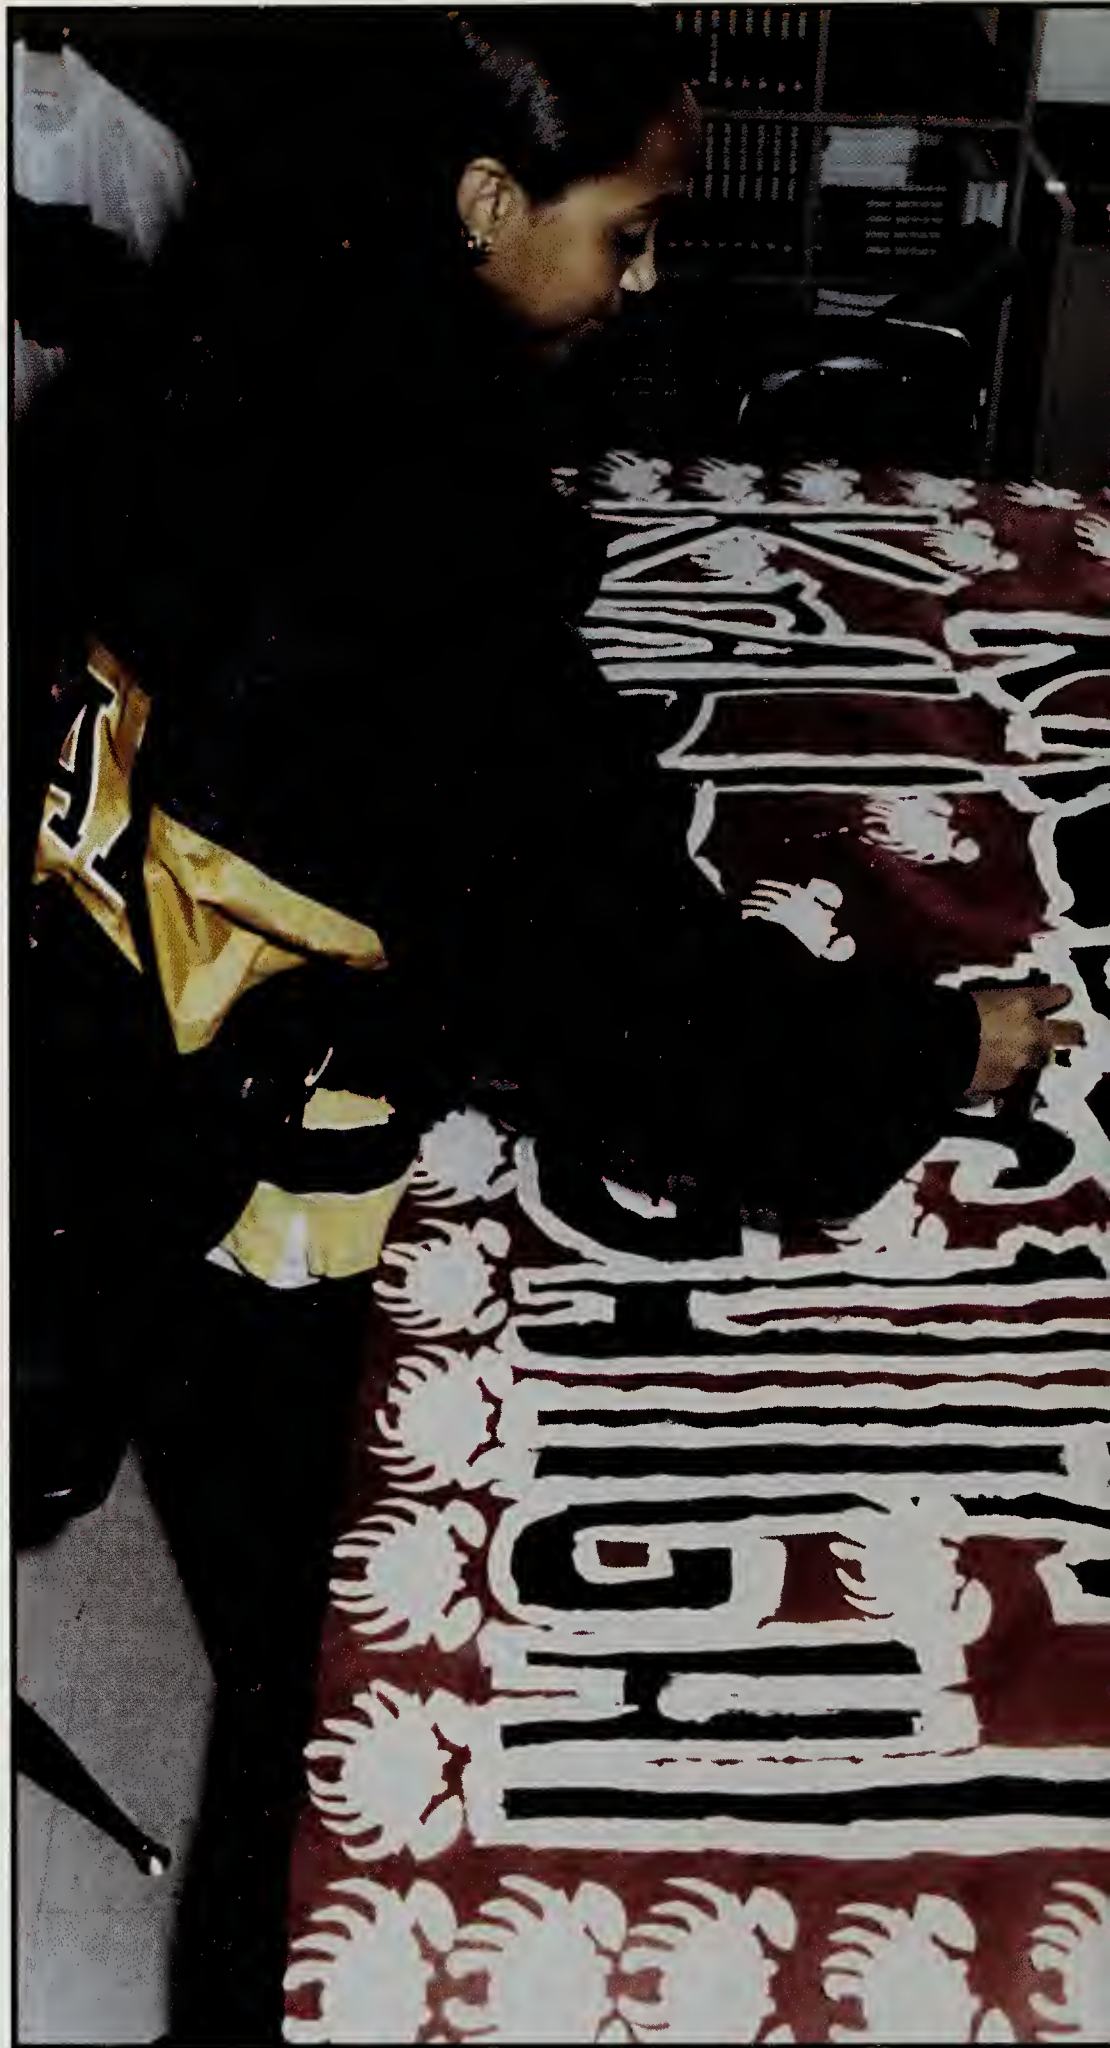

It's All About Us!

It's All About "Our So-Called Lives"

The building comes alive around 7:40 a.m., when students animate the hallways with enthusiasm and energy. Students reluctantly arrive in class right before the tardy bell rings just in time to hear the latest gossip. While the teacher is wrapping up class, students are anticipating the bell, but before she is finished, it rings and that class is gone. Between classes, students scurry to their lockers and make a mad dash to arrive in the next class.

When lunch time finally comes, students pack into lines, sometimes cutting, only to receive their meals five minutes before the bell rings again. Students scarf down their food in hopes that the clock is fast, but the bell rings and they slurp that juice one last time, and say bye to friends, and it's off to fourth and fifth periods.

By the end of the day, Crabbers have survived a seven hour circus. They have time now to catch their breath and prepare for another day and homework for all those classes and activities after school.

Laretta Guthrie and Christina soothe their appetites at the salad bar.

There is no question about the Crabber Pride that Zainab Carter and Alfonza Gunter have.

Crabber Style is in Our Jeans!

Crabbers express their own style through clothes, hair, lockers, cars, slang, music, and attitudes. Girls dressing in a sophisticated manner, buy from Express, Gap, Limited, Old Navy, American Eagle, Baker's, and Lady Footlocker. "I dress differently daily to express my own style," says Carrie Jobst. Guys, still wearing the baggy look are going for a more casual approach, shopping for Tommy, Polo, Nautica, Fubu, Gap, Timberland, and Nike. Mark Lacey, says, "I just dress to impress."

Hair also expresses style for the Crabbers. Girls rock short cuts, bobs, long or short weaves, and shiny long layers, while guys are keeping it tight with tapered cuts, ceasers, or cornrows. Lockers, another style statement, include Crabber red and white, pictures, posters, and mirrors. Another piece of the Crabber "Steelo" puzzle are the cars and the personalized license plates. "I love my green genie," says Tiya Robinson. Crabbers favorite sayings include, "I'm mad at that", "Bout it", and "...Jumpin off." Favorite songs and musicians range from Lauryn Hill's tunes to Sublimes alternative jingles.

Style is more than just appearance; it's a personal quest for expression. Crabber confidence and pride says that we will always have flavor. That our style is always going to be "All about us."

Homecoming 1998:

"No Limit Crabbers"

Homecoming this year was kicked off by the Homecoming dance on October 10, 1998 at the North Hampton Community Center. The Homecoming Court was introduced to the student body and the night was filled with dancing, fun, and laughter.

Spirit week was held October 12th through the 16th. The students participated in "Tacky Day", "Little Kid Day", "Flashback Day", "Bright Day", and "Red and White Day".

"I had a lot of fun dressing up during the week!", says senior Kristina Hayward. On the last day of Spirit Week the "No Limit" pep rally was held.

Sports teams were recognized, the band and the cheerleaders performed. The Homecoming King Almondo "Muffin" Curry was announced. Homecoming games were played, and everyone had an exciting time.

The Homecoming parade was held Friday afternoon from City Hall to Darling Stadium. The Homecoming Queen Lela Meekins was announced, "I was really excited, this will definitely be one of the most memorable nights of my life!"

The band played "My Heart Will Go On", from the movie "Titanic." The Crabbers were victorious over the Gloucester Dukes. There was "No Limit" to this year's Homecoming.

SCA members help set up for the Homecoming pep rally.

Homecoming Queen and King

Lela Perle Meekins and Almondo (Muffin) Curry are two of the most popular seniors in the Class of '99 in our school and community.

Lela Meekins was crowned Homecoming Queen at the football game. This was her second year on the Homecoming Court. Lela is very active in the school and community as well. She is President of the SCA. She is also a member of the Danceline. Lela also ran track and was on Cross Country. In the community she is involved in a Teen Pregnancy Program, Twisted Elegance Dance Troop, and Superintendent's Supervisory Group.

Almondo (Muffin) Curry was crowned Homecoming King at the Homecoming pep rally. In addition to his being a wide receiver he also plays safety and running back for the football team. Almondo participates in school activities such as Natural helpers. He also participates in the basketball team as well. Muffin's grades, social life, and athletic activities always remain above average.

It's All About Us,

No Doubt About it!

Class of '99.....

'Bout It, 'Bout It!

No doubt about it Hampton is the place to be. Seniors are all ready and are counting down to the day of graduation. "I can't wait until the actual walk across the stage on graduation day," says Tasha Johnson. We are the last class of the century and we mean to represent it well. "It's all about the best and last class of '99," says David Sullivan. So when it comes to being "Bout It," the Crabbers have the best stories to tell.

Over the years the class of '99 has been represented greatly by sports, winning State champions three consecutive years, and by Seniors, who have enrolled themselves in more AP and Honors courses. Being a senior means having an active life. When school lets out, most seniors are rushing to practice or to their afterschool jobs. Others go straight home and begin chores and homework, sometimes studying for major tests and exams.

Weekends bring dates or a little partying, hanging out or even shopping, but it's not all fun! As a senior, the year is obligated to more, like taking SAT's and sending off mad college applications.

As the class of '99 celebrates itself with its many athletes and students that excel academically as well, "We don't look back on accomplishments from the past, but look forward to the future out in the REAL WORLD," says Denita Wilson.

"So what do you plan on doing after high school?" Time is counting down, and with the turn of the Century, we will soon find out who is really, "Bout it, Bout it!"

Stress! Stress! Stress! When seniors think of taking SAT's and filling out college applications and applying for scholarships, stress is a big factor. Options are difficult. What college to attend? What score will get me there? Taking SAT's, getting accepted, and providing money for it all is what being a senior is all about.

"I'm glad I started taking SAT's in my junior year," says Lela Meekins. "At least I knew what I was getting into."

"SAT testing requires a broad knowledge of math and English skills. They're different from classroom testing, so a lot of students find them to be difficult," says Dr. Vickie Vaughan. She is counseling students on test preparation.

Senior Teachers Play a Pivotal Role

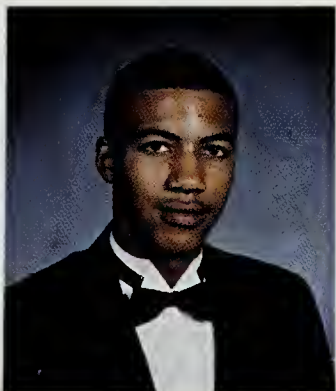

"Teaching seniors is a great challenge. While being an end to a phase, it is also the beginning of another, much larger, phase./ I hold the responsibility very dearly and try to give as much as possible of what I know to each of my seniors," says Mr. Max Jarrell

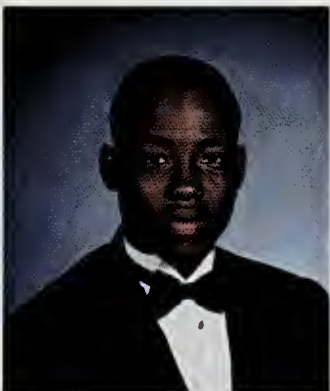

Senior teachers and students share a relationship that is very important. Senior teachers help prepare their students for college and/ or work outside of high school. Working towards making future experiences successful is uppermost in teachers' and students' minds. Mr. Max Jarrell shares a joke with Monica Haynesworth.

Seniors Are "No Limit, Crabbers!"

"We got second place in the Homecoming Parade. It was a lot of fun," says John Vulk

Seniors always put on their best effort when putting together their float for Homecoming, as Homecoming is always one of the most exciting events of the year. This year to complement the theme, "No Limit Crabbers," senior came back with "Saving the Best for Last."

A senior is one of the few in the building who gets tired of the day-to-day routine. For most of them, seniors have been following the September to June routine since they were four years old, some even earlier. It's the friends and connections that make the difference.

"I'm here early every day," says Rasheen Robison, "and I will be celebrating when June, 1999 arrives."

Even after thirteen to fourteen years of school, seniors are still bound to the clock, the bell, and the routine.

Rasheen Robison makes her locker her first stop every morning.

Junior Class Officers Oversee Year of Activity

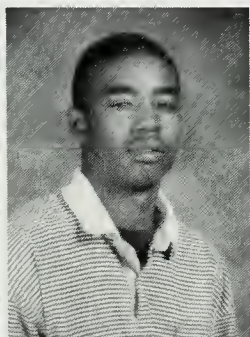

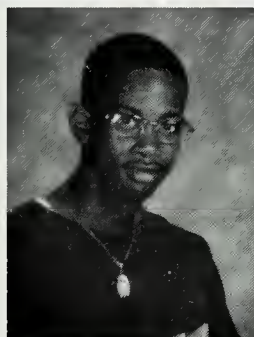

Sitting: Secretary, Kia Baker; President, Natasha Plumb; and Vice President, Danya Bacchus
Standing: Sponsor, Ms. R. Dillard; Historian, Alida Lucas; Treasurer, Earashea Knight; and Parliamentarian, Tiana Gagne

The junior class officers started the '98-99 school year by selling Homecoming spirit links, which was followed by many other fundraisers to raise support for the Junior Ring Dance to be held in April.

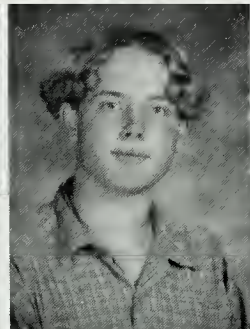

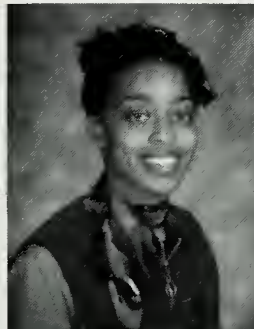

The officers were elected at the first junior class meeting on October 1, 1998. Juniors were led by President Natasha Plumb, Vice-president Danya Bacchus and Treasurer Earashea Knight. Other officers are Secretary Kia Baker, Parliamentarian Tiana Gagne, Assistant Parliamentarian Chris Cox, Historian Alida Lucas and Assistant Historian Aaron McMillian. The junior sponsors are English teachers, Ms. Rebecca Dillard and Mrs. Danielle Smith.

The officers, especially the President and Vice-president encouraged the students of the junior class to become active as much as possible in their class activities. President Natasha Plumb said, "We advertised every meeting, and we had tremendous support from our fellow peers." The officers worked together to make sure there were as many active people helping the class as possible, to make the junior class succeed. Secretary Kia Baker summed up the year by saying, "We stayed on track and made our junior year very successful and enjoyable."

The Joy of Getting Your Class Rings

It's all about getting your class ring. Herff Jones comes to Hampton High in the fall to help juniors place orders for class rings. "People think it's real easy placing an order for junior rings, but it's not" said Marcus Jonhson. Placing a class ring order is very complicated. You have so many styles to choose from. Among the many decisions are: What do you want to go on the sides of the ring?, Do you want 10k, 14k, or 18k gold?, What kind of stone do you want?, Do you want gold on gold, gold, white gold, or ultrium. Finally you always have to decide on, how much money you want to spend on your ring?

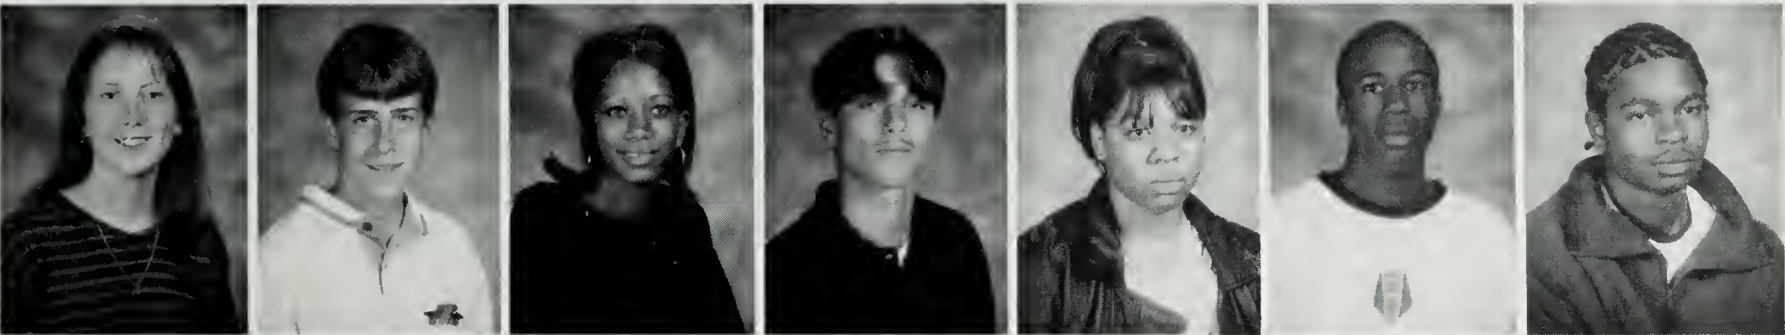

Like past years, the juniors recieved their rings in April. Choosing how you want your class ring to look is very confusing, yet very exciting. These rings will be a memory, cherished for a lifetime.

Juniors Survive a Stressful Year !!

The junior year is probably the most difficult for a high school student. During this year students realize how important their grades are and how much their grades will affect their future. Academic success is what these students strive for.

The pressures that a junior is faced with are extremely harsh. These pressures include PSAT's, SAT's, SOL testing and future college choices. Other pressures are the harder classes a junior may take. These classes include AP US History, Pre-Calculus, Algebra II, Physics, and Chemistry. Although only some take these classes, it will definitely be beneficial to the students' future.

All of these academic pressures, as well as other pressures such as social pressures and Ring Dance contribute to a junior's stressful year.

While sitting in Mrs. Parker's 11th grade English class, Joshua Evans works diligently on his classwork

Freddie the Crab raises the roof with much love and support for all athletic events. Junior Jason Riberdy assumed the responsibility of becoming the school mascot. Most would consider this a tough job, but he asked Mrs. Kathi Driver, about a week before the third game of the football season, if he could take on this role anyway. Jason became the mascot so that he could represent Hampton High School to the best of his ability. In order for him to become the mascot, he had to be in the SCA and be able to transport the crab. In his spare time, when not assuming the position of Freddie, he likes to play football, golf, basketball, and sometimes tennis. He also hangs out with friends and goes to the movies.

According to Jason, the nice thing about being the mascot is being in front of sold-out crowds and hanging with the cheerleaders. One of the strange rituals that happens at the games is that after a touchdown, everyone jumps on and beats Freddie. "I would like to be the mascot next year, but I feel we need a new crab," he suggests. He admits that the thing that separates him from past Freddie's is that he has no rhythm, but it is truly difficult to dance with an 85 pound crab on your shoulders. Sometimes senior Tim Scheffler helps out by dancing every other quarter.

Jason says, "It's a hard job, because, after all, the crab does weigh a lot, but I enjoy it, and everybody expects Freddie to be there."

Sophomore Class Officers and Executive Board Lead Towards 2001

For each new year a group of different yet responsible students are elected by their peers and their teachers for their class. For the class of 2001 Kisha Jefferson and Tia Artis were elected as presidents. Vice president is Renee' Pollard. Jessica Ducketts is the secretary and Tamika Paige is treasure. Joyce Corriere is the sponser of this sophomore class. Ms. Corrier had this to say "The sophomore class has worked hard towards an exciting and productive year. I hope they have continued success on the path to graduation."

The Spirit That Keeps On Coming

The sophomore spirit keeps on coming back!! The Class of 2001 have been screaming, fighting, and cheering for the Hampton Crabber team. "We're right in the middle, just the right amount of spirit to go around," said Nikki Lewis on class spirit.

Sophomores battled hard at the homecoming pep rally, and won the jello and balloon contest. Though coming in last in the hall decorating contest, they came jumping back with second place in the spirit links.

Juilo Royal quoted "Tenth grade is a challenge," and sophomores proved to be by beating the junior class float in the homecoming parade, and winning third place. Sophomores have shown true spirit for the Hampton Crabbers !!

Sophomore Individual Spirit

Sophomores, the middle class, have a lot of spirit as a whole class, but the heart of their spirit is in the individual students. These students stay on top of their class by showing their spirit. During Spirit Week these students went to the extremes. Some painted faces, some dressed up, while others showed their spirit at the games with a great deal of pride. Spirit and class pride inspire fellow classmates and show creativity. Sophomores are so individual.

Blake Spratley shows his Crabber pride by sporting his Hampton Crabbers football T-shirt.

Caught In The Middle

Sophomores hanging between the decisions of the future, dreams of the future, memories of being children, and experiencing feelings of limbo. The decisions of what college and what career to decide upon have not yet started. The worries of starting a new school and learning to cope with high school.

Starting to drive can be very important, but after that, what are they to do? Sophomores are no longer Freshmen, yet they haven't really started on what it is to become an adult in the world. After learning to drive, people want to move on, to become adults, but the rules say all must go through the whole tenth grade.

The feelings of limbo can best be described by Camille Span, a sophomore who says, "We are always going to be older than some people, yet younger than others, even if we were on top, we always have to start again."

Freshman Officers and Executive Board Go To the "Head of the Class"

The officers include Jessica Mandell and Taren Terry as Presidents; Korey Johnson, Vice-president; Robert Leggette, treasurer; Joi Scott, secretary; Michael Young; and Patrice Mathews, Parliamentarian.

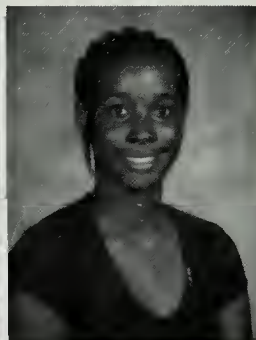

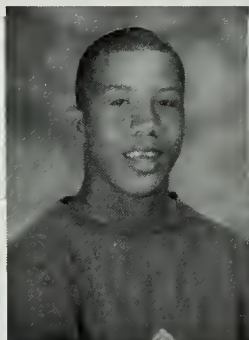

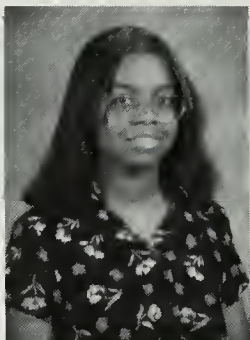

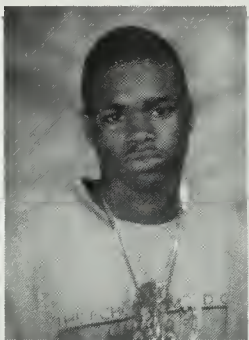

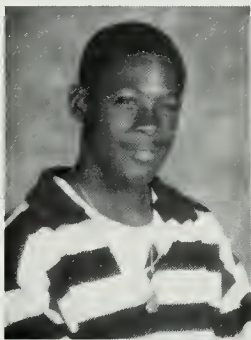

Each year interested members of the freshmen class run for a class office. These individuals usually have a great deal of school spirit, and are interested in helping out the school and peers in a positive way.

Becoming an officer takes a tremendous responsibility. The freshmen class sponsor is Ms. Oriel Robinson who comments, "My goal is to prepare the freshmen to build on their ideas and creativity and advance to the next grade level with more enthusiasm and a goal for excellence."

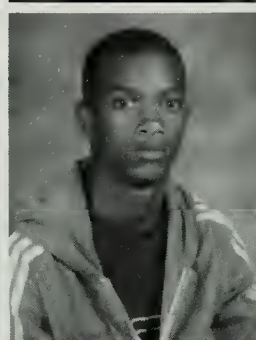

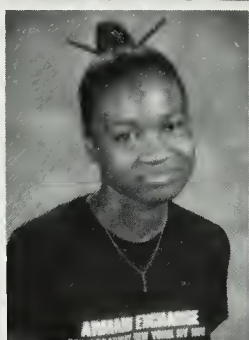

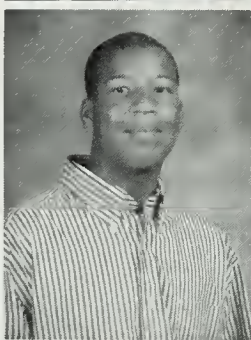

The members of the freshmen Executive Board are Vanity Cotton, Oreolleba Solorin, Joi Scott, Jannice Hill, Lindsay Sesek, Patrice Mathews, Taneaka Robinson, and Robert Leggette.

Freshman Orientations Give Overviews and Direction

At the beginning of the school year, English teachers take their freshmen classes to the library to get introduced to the electronic card catalog and the internet. The Media Center is a good place for freshmen to go to find needed information for their studies. It's also a quiet place where they can go study or read a book. The librarian, Ms. Star Wolven says, "I am happy to do orientations for everyone. The programs change every year, so we always have something new to show! It's a delight showing freshmen all our research tools!"

Mellisa Foust and Ebony Morgan learn how to use the card catalog.

Freshmen Enter More Difficult Courses

As freshmen enter high school they have to adjust to a different environment with more difficult work, new people, and new teachers. The typical day of a freshman includes the following classes: English, Geography or World History, Math, Earth Science or Biology, Physical Education /Health, and one elective. With these classes comes a lot of work and a better understanding of why and how things work.

Teresa Bebout and Hanna Ozment work hard in their Biology class.

Earth Science is a Popular Science Class!

One of the many science teachers who teaches the class of 2002 is Mrs. Joyce Corriere. She helps freshmen understand the principles behind Earth Science and Biology. Freshmen enjoy working one-to-one with their teachers, so they can get a better understanding of why science is an important class and how they can understand it better. Earth Science teaches freshmen how to read a map and understand about rocks and other natural phenomena.

Tara Irons meets with Mrs. Corriere to go over specifics of that day's lesson.

Baby Crabbers Have Spirit!

Most would think that coming into a new environment would be difficult and hard, adjusting to the new expectations of high school. But not true for the class of 2002! Freshmen worked very hard and put a lot of time and effort into making their Homecoming float a success. Their class placed FIRST, shutting out all the other individual class floats. These Baby Crabbers have definitely impressed everyone with their school spirit!

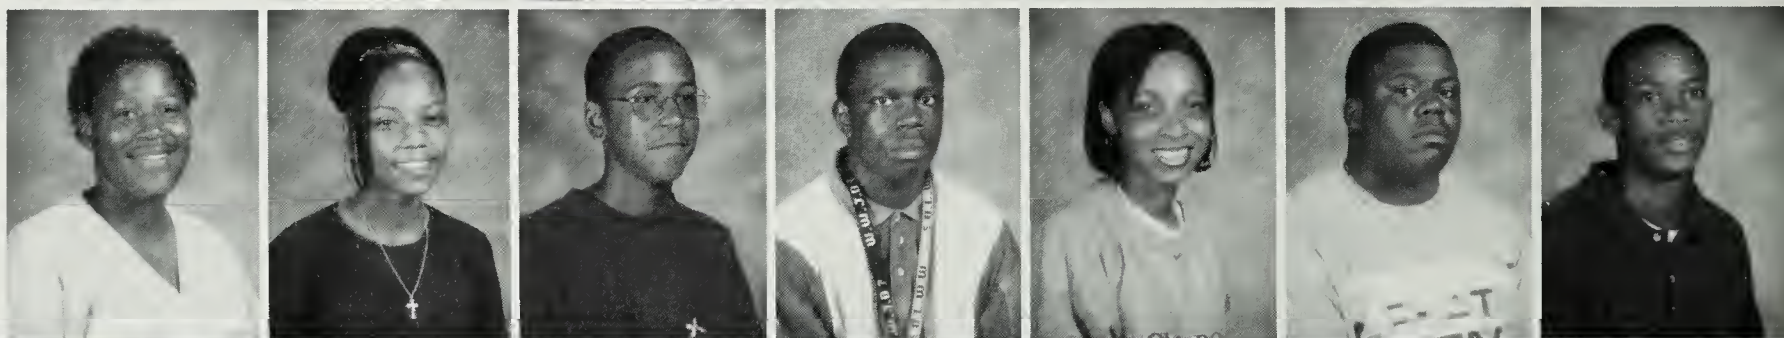

The freshmen showed their school spirit by participating in the 1998 Homecoming Parade.

The Crisis Team

Do you have a problem and need someone to confide in? The Crisis Team is a group of faculty and staff that are there to help a student in need of advice and guidance. The team helps any student in a confidential manner. "We are very proud to have such a compassionate group here at HHS," says Dr. Vickie Vaughan, who is also the chairperson for the team. The team is a very quiet, but successful group. Some of the situations include students who are depressed, abused, and suicidal. After talking with the student, the parents are contacted and notified that there is a problem.

"It is unique to work in the clinic alone, because I have access to so many resources," says Mrs. Isabelle White

Mrs. Isabelle White

Mrs. Isabelle White has been a nurse here for eight years. She likes working with young people—they keep her young at heart. She acts as a liaison with students, the community, and other agencies.

The majority of cases that come into the clinic are skin disease, heart condition, lung problems, hearing problems, and disease of the blood she says. If she cannot answer questions, then she refers students to someone who can.

Mrs. White says, "It is unique to work in the clinic alone, because I have access to many, many resources." Through the years she has learned to think on her feet. She has to be self-reliant and confident, which comes from her years of experience at being a mother, grandmother and nurse.

Mrs. Isabelle White has served in the clinic for eight years.

*"The toughest opponent that you will ever fight is yourself," Officer
Tony Perkins
says.*

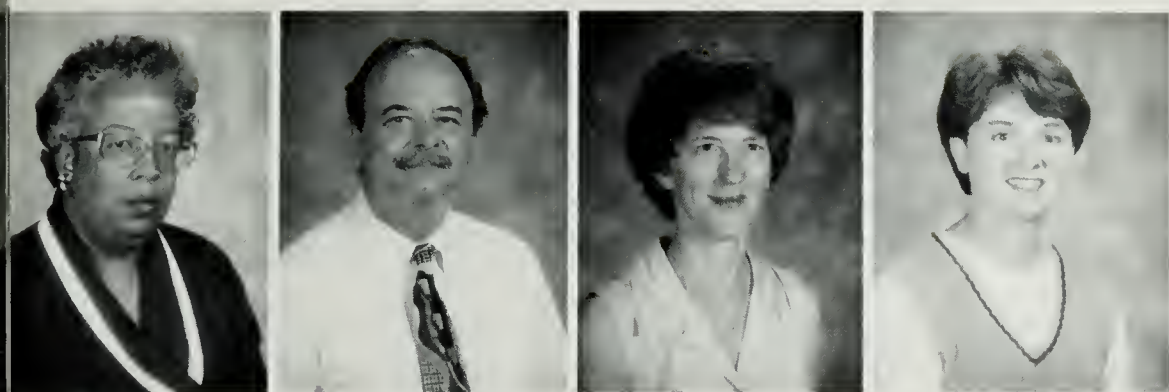

Officer Tony Perkins

Officer Tony Perkins is one of the newest members of the Crabber family. Before coming to Hampton and becoming a police officer, Officer Perkins was in the Air Force as a Air Weapon Controller, and he decided to become a police officer because he enjoys helping people. He has now been an officer of the law for five years.

His job in the building is to ensure the safety of every student, teacher, and staff member in this building. He feels that the greatest concern to him and everyone else is to prevent fighting and make sure that all students graduate. To him that is the most important job anyone can have.

Officer Perkins mans the hallways with his walkie-talkie, which enables him to contact all administrators.

Hall Monitors

There are rules for the hallways. Like everywhere else, the monitors are making sure that the students are following school policies and staying on track.

"It's very disappointing to see young adults choosing fights as the best solution for their problems," says Mrs. Alvenia Bruce, one of the hall monitors new to Hampton this year. She enjoys her job, and enjoys working with young adults. "The most difficult part of my job is dealing with disrespectful students, but hey, that's what I'm here for," she says.

"I don't have any difficult part of my job," says Mr. Todd Kercher, who has been working as a hall monitor for six years now. "We, as hall monitors, are supposed to take whatever action to neutralize the situation. I feel responsible," he says, "when young adults are fighting; besides that, I'm just doing my job, because it's my responsibility to break the fight before it gets any further."

Hall monitors are not only here to make sure that everybody is following the rules, but also to help students do the right thing.

"It's different. I'm trying to make it safe for students. There are some students on the hard-headed side, but...it's a good job," Mrs. Alvenia Bruce

Mrs. Alvenia Bruce and Ms. Jo-Ann Davis man the counter in the Main Office, although they are rarely in one place. The hall monitors are in constant motion throughout the building.

Mr. Todd Kercher watches the monitors in the office for the hall monitors moved to the front hallway. All the cameras placed throughout the building can be watched there. Mr. Ray Barnes sits to the side.

The Administrative Team

Dr. James Victory, Principal

Committed, serious-minded, and enthusiastic are just three words to describe the new Crabber principal, Dr. James Victory. Dr. Victory joins the staff after serving as an administrator in Portsmouth, VA for 11 years and at Lindsay Middle School since 1996.

Dr. Victory describes Hampton's staff, students, and faculty as "focused, enthusiastic, entrenched in history, motivated, and in love with Crabber pride," and his special affection for his new position is obvious as he describes the "studious, phenomenal, mature, independent, and determined for success" staff, faculty, and student body.

"The hardest part of my job is managing all of the intricate pieces and inner forces of Hampton High School," says Dr. Victory. As a Crabber, there are several goals Dr. Victory has focused on this year. He has worked to see the requirements of the Bienial Plan fulfilled. Dr. Victory also is working to see Hampton become as sound academically, as it is in athletics, and he is striving to include both the community's and the students' input into the school.

Dr. Victory believes that

Crabber Pride is best described by his new acronym for the word Crabbers...:

C limate
R esponsibility
A chievement
B etterment
B ehavior
E xpectations
R espect
S elf-Monitoring

Ms. Cynthia Cooper, Assistant Principal

In her fourth year as Assistant Principal, Ms. Cynthia Cooper has definitely moved from her "freshman" year to her "senior" year. She has had the chance to watch a whole class of students grow, change, and approach graduation. When asked how she feels about these seniors she says, "It's wonderful because I've seen them as little kids. . . and now, I see them leading student groups, bringing about changes and handling things like mature adults. . . it's very satisfying because you know they've made the 'transition'."

"Finding out what task needs to go first. . ." and "balancing. . . trying to keep everything going smoothly. . ." are what Ms. Cooper finds the hardest parts of her job. She also appreciates the "down time" she's allowed to have with students, including pep rallies and the three point shooting contests. She enjoys solving problems and conflicts as well as interacting with students. "Students come in really discouraged without solutions to their problems, and when I can help them work through that, it's really nice. . ." Moreover, Ms. Cooper feels the changes that have been made this year have had a good effect on students. "This year's major emphasis was getting the students to achieve more academically." As a prime role model for her students she sets goals and balances her time while working hard on a doctorate at Old Dominion University.

Counselors Mrs. Lynda Leech and Ms. Olive Hopson give friendly guidance to a parent during the annual Back-to-School night, while Ms. Cynthia Cooper assists.

Ms. Cynthia Cooper reviews her calendar in her office amidst her eclectic collection of pumpkins, stuffed gizmos, exotic souvenirs, and weird creatures. Despite the surroundings, Ms. Cooper maintains both sanity and a sense of humor.

Mr. Gordon White, Assistant Principal

Mr. Gordon White says, "Some of my main goals this year are to be an example in everything I do and to assist many seniors in planning for college." Mr. White has been assistant principal for over 12 years. He is in charge of the senior class, the faculty, and the student population. Mr. White is a very hard worker, and he always has a goal set that he always meets. Mr. White is an inspiration to everyone he comes in contact with. He is a good listener, and he is always willing to help others. Although his schedule is rarely flexible, he finds the time to avoid the conflicts among students who fail at getting along with each other. In a way you can say he is our own version of the PEACE-MAKER.

Mr. White is keeping things in check; he is the Assistant Principal in charge of activities. Here he works with Mrs. Kathi Driver, SCA sponsor, at a pep rally.

Mr. Gordon White, Assistant Principal, takes a moment out of his busy schedule to smile for the camera.

Mr. Harry Bennett, Assistant Principal

As an assistant principal for over twenty years, Mr. Harry Bennett describes his job as both "challenging and rewarding." Mr. Bennett has been a member of the Hampton

High faculty for the past six years and is also a graduate of Hampton. He says, "Everyday I learn something new and different."

On a daily basis, Mr. Bennett handles many different aspects of the school. These include the departments of Social Studies, P.E., Business, the custodians, the cafeteria, ROTC, and the library. He is also in charge of the operation of the building in general.

Mr. Bennett says he decided to become an assistant principal when he saw what the job consisted of.

Mr. Harry Bennett begins his day by checking his e-mail.

Mr. Bennett works on day-to-day paper work.

"Interesting," that's the way Coach Mike Smith describes the day in a life of a dean. Being responsible for attendance records, validating reasons for absences and tardies and handling discipline problems are just a few of the duties performed daily by the deans, Coach Michael Smith and Ms. Barbara Wilson.

Coach Smith has held the position of Dean for twenty-eight years. When first entering Hampton High School, he taught in the classroom as a biology teacher for seven years. With a Master's degree in Secondary School Administration, he made the transition from a teacher to a dean. "Seeing some of the kids' lives turn towards education and assuming positive responsibilities is the best part of being a dean," says Coach Smith. "The worst part is seeing the kids and parents during a conference not knowing each other."

"The lack of concern by people who come tardy," says Ms. Wilson about the worst part of being a dean. Ms. Wilson who is the Dean of Girls has been at Hampton High "for more than a decade, less than two." Before becoming the Dean of Girls, she taught Social Studies while assisting Mrs. Moore who was Dean of Girls at the time. "Although you deal with all kinds of problems, you see a positive change" and this is the best part of being a dean Ms. Wilson.

Coach Smith and Ms. Wilson went to grad school together and have worked with each other since 1970. Coach Smith alerted the opening for the position of Dean to Ms. Wilson and suggested she should apply for the job, which she did. Ms. Wilson says, "Coach Smith and I are a team!"

The Deans Contribute to Crabber Excellence

In his dual role as football coach and dean, Coach Mike Smith awaits the next play on the sidelines.

The dynamic dean duo of Coach Mike Smith and Ms. Barbara Wilson, along with Mrs. Ruth Hobson, prepare for Hampton's '98 graduation ceremonies.

Coach Mike Smith conducts business from his office where he serves as Dean of Boys; he is surrounded by the many awards and trophies he has received as head football coach.

"Honesty is always the best policy," advises Dean Barbara Wilson.

Guidance Moves to New Offices

The Guidance Department has been through tremendous change this year. It is now located on the cafeteria hall with more space and is more convenient for students. It is still a place where students can go to find college information, academic standing, and to get help with personal problems or future goals that they may have questions or concerns about.

Mrs. Lynda Leech is the head of the Guidance Department. Mrs. Leech likes the new guidance location, because everyone works together, communication is better, and it appears to be a professional office. Although a lot of positive changes have been expressed Mrs. Leech says, "I miss the natural lighting."

Mrs. Olive Hopson, another guidance counselor, is adjusting to the new guidance department as well. Mrs. Hopson says, "I like the wonderful added additions, more space, having room to spread out, and having our own conference room." If other changes could be made, she would like to see a career center, and a personal bathroom for the department. I enjoy working with the students and giving them additional support, self-esteem, study skills, and getting the students' priorities in order."

Ms. Hopson and Mrs. Leech see the beginning of the year as the most hectic of the entire year.

Ms. Betty Davis who plays a big role in the Guidance Department thinks the new Guidance area is great. She likes the changes. "It takes time to organize after a move but things are slowly coming together. Being a secretary of the Guidance Department takes a lot of time and patience. What could be easy today may be hard tomorrow. I do whatever is necessary to make the Department run smoothly."

The Guidance Department contributes much to the school. They express their concerns for the whole student body.

Walk in the Media Center and you will find Mrs. Connie Scott, Media Specialist and network administrator, Mrs. Star Wolven, Library Specialists; and, Mrs. Beth Reaves, Library Technical Assistant, hard at work to help everyone in the library.

The Media Center is a great place to do research and late homework, but also a place to do some of your favorite things such as pleasure reading or just relaxing with a magazine.

The Library has 38 computers for everything and everyone to use. They have research computers and a writing lab. The research computers have various programs depending on the student and teacher workshops being taught during various times of the day and the writing lab is for typing papers. The programs on the computer consist of Internet, Word Excel, Pagemaker and the Patron catalog. There is also something in the library that a lot of people have forgotten about the books.

The Media Center is full of wonderful books for everyone to read. Whether you are reading for pleasure or because you have a report due, the Media Center has the book you need.

"I love being busy and helping students to get the information they need," says Ms. Beth Reaves.

Office and Data Processing

"Everyday there's something new!" says Mrs. Barbara Schultheiss.

From absence passes and suspension papers to financial problems and just simply answering phones, Data Processing and the main office staff make it happen. Throughout the year, these two contribute to making this facility a very efficient school. From August to June these ladies have their work cut out for them.

Ms. Laurie Skinner works with Mrs. Sheila Dillard, and in their typical day of work, they have to do attendance, write notes, answer phone calls, and sign students in and out of school. They enjoy working with each other very much.

A lady that very seldom gets any recognition is Mrs. Claudette Orie. She is the one that balances all of our accounts and tracks down anyone who owes money to the school or fundraisers. This year has been her most responsible year because she has to take care of a lot more funds and bills. A typical work day for her is constantly verifying deposits from clubs/orgnizations, making bank deposits, writing checks, and signing receipts. The only thing that stresses Mrs. Orie is searching for a penny on paper; she says it doesn't happen often, but it still stresses her.

Ms. Marjorie Brannon has been a secretary to four principals in the fifteen years she's worked here. That's almost the longest in the office, but Mrs. Orie has been here the longest, twenty years.

These two staffs are the information super highway at Hampton High School.

Do you ever wonder who keeps the school neat and clean? How about being here at 5:00 a.m. in the morning? Well, that is the job of the custodians here at Hampton. There are 21 staff members all together on the day and night shifts. The head custodian is Mr. Terry Pass who has been here for 21 years. The newest custodian aboard is Mr. Oscar Barber who has been here for only four years. Other jobs custodians have besides keeping the school clean are delivering packages and maintenance work, a hard job in a building that is 40 years old. Mr. Claude Pope says, "The job is fine, and there have been some good changes since the last administrator, such as cleanliness in the cafeteria, and I also feel the kids are more disciplined."

Mr. Terry Pass starts his day off with a warm cup of coffee, much needed at 5:00 a.m.

"...good changes...the cleanliness in the cafeteria, and...the kids are more disciplined," says Mr. Claude Pope

The Cafeteria Staff Keeps Busy

"The worst part of my job is when I don't have enough time to do what I need to do," says Mrs. Carol Moss.

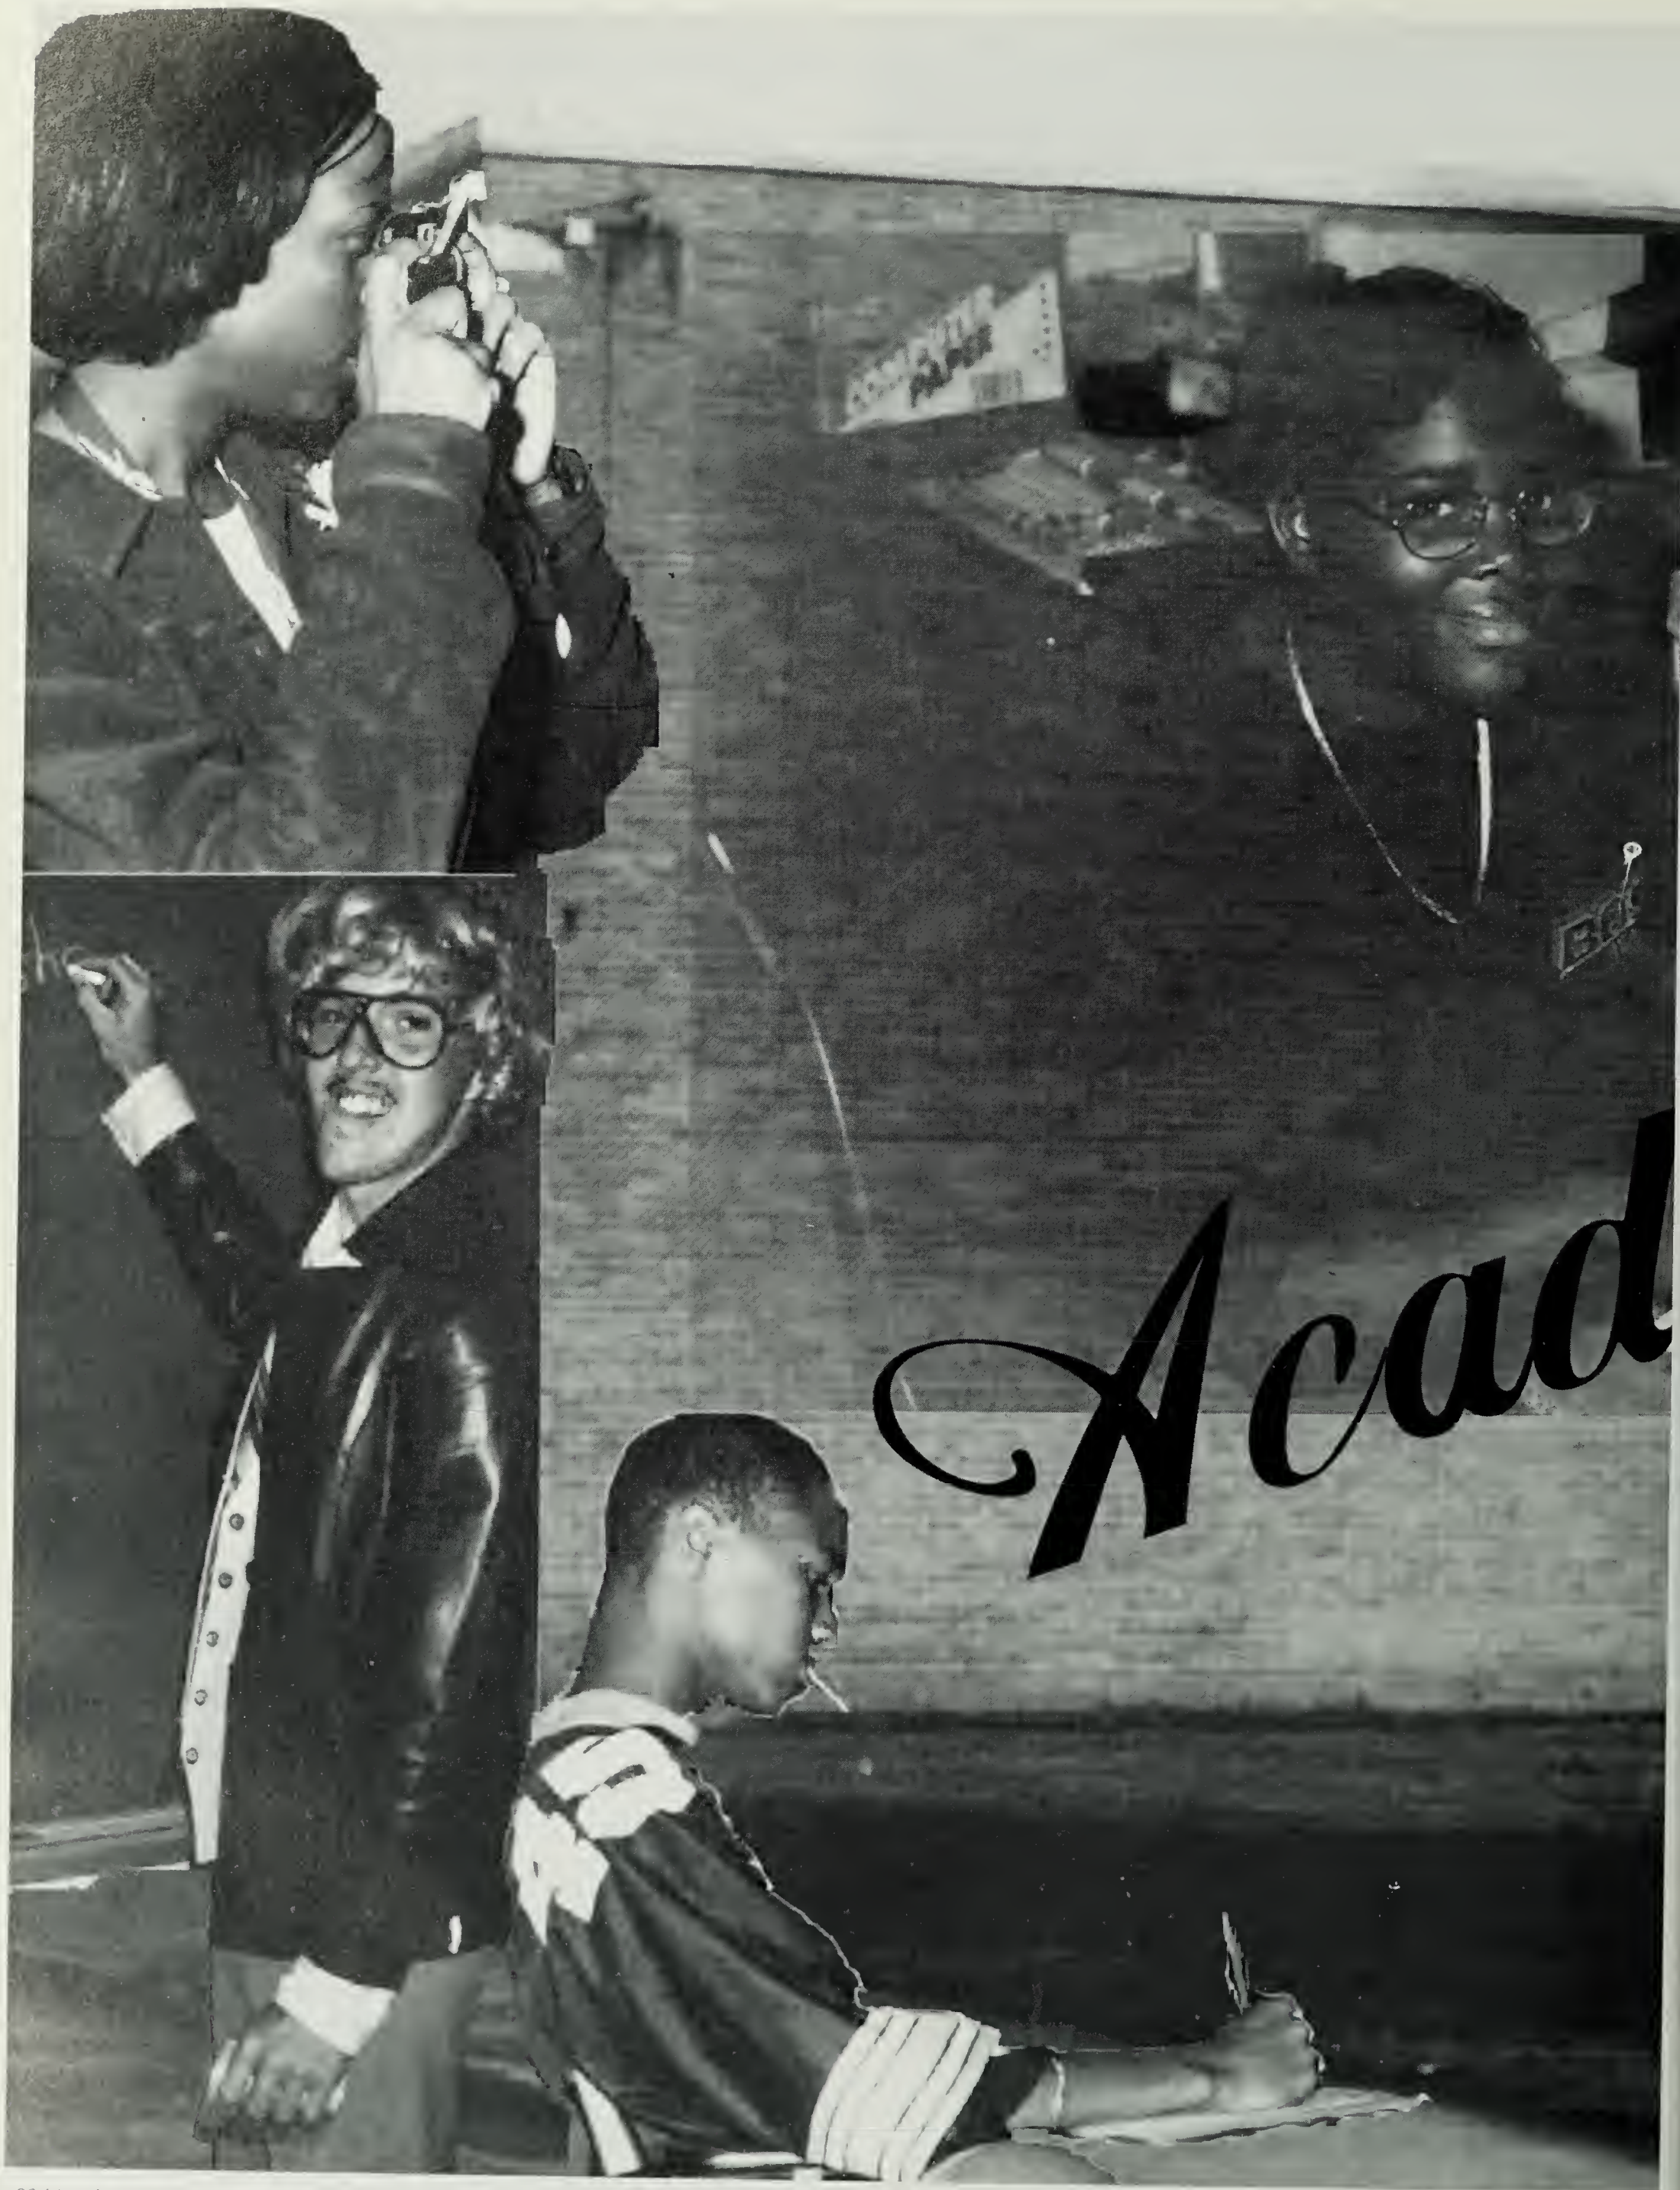

Lunch is a very important part of the day for everyone. The Cafeteria staff is there to make lunch for many hungry students. The Cafeteria staff's day is just as hectic as any student's day is. They serve around sixteen hundred students a day - that includes breakfast, lunch, and a snack. Hampton High is not the only school that the staff cooks for. They cook for approximately six other programs, which makes their day even more hectic.

Every day is different because the menu varies from day to day. They serve chicken sandwiches, pizza, hamburgers, chesseburgers, among other things. The kitchen staff starts the day at five thirty in the morning and ends the day between two thirty or three o' clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Carol Moss, Cafeteria Manager, concentrates on making the bread and having it ready in time for students at lunch.

The Foreign Language Department

The focus of the Foreign Language Department is to teach languages for proficiency, that is as real communication tools that students can use in meaningful personal interactions. Mr. Issidore Kessel, Instructional Leader for the Department says, "Everything is better when done willingly, well, and enthusiastically, especially when teachers push these five skills: speaking, listening, reading, writing, and knowledge of the cultures."

The foreign language program offers four different languages: French, which goes from levels I through V; Latin, with levels I through IV; German, with levels I through

IV; and Spanish, with levels I through V and AP Spanish. Hampton is the only school in the city that offers AP Spanish. It is taught in the Long-Distance Learning Center by Mr. Kessel. This enables students from area high schools to also take this course.

There are no prerequisites for the first level of any of the languages. A grade of "C" or better is required in order to advance through the language levels. Foreign language also sponsors honor societies for students who have at least two consecutive A's or B's in the course.

Cynthia Tyler is working hard to better her classwork grade.

English as a Second Language

"Hello" and "Thank You." That's all that the ESL students know before they enter this program. ESL (English as a Second Language) has been in Hampton for eight years and is conducted by Mrs. Sharon Burton and Mrs. Jackie Yau. ESL student Hyon-ju Lee says, "I love HHS, because the people, students and teachers help me work out and improve my abilities," his vision of the purpose to help students from foreign countries learn and understand the English language.

ESL maintains a progressive system. Last year history and twelfth grade English were added to the ESL Program and eleventh grade English this year. The population of ESL students keeps increasing, although most of the students graduated last year. Classes are becoming larger year after year.

Joseph Kasongo is working on his assignment.

The Math Department

Working with students from Pre-Algebra to Calculus, the Math Department has its work cut out for all its teachers and students. Headed by Mrs. Carolyn Holmes, this department has thirteen teachers along with approximately 1,311 students. All high school students are required to take three years of math. Some of the courses that students choose to take are Pre-Algebra, Algebra, Geometry, Algebra II, Trigonometry, PreCalculus, Calculus and Computer Math.

A new course, Algebra I, part A is followed by Algebra I, part B, in order for students to complete Algebra I in two years, instead of the traditional one year course. The major focus for the year was to increase the number of students who successfully completed Algebra I. In order to reach this goal all Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II teachers gave nine week SOL-type tests. Also this year an extensive tutorial system has been added to the Math Department. Before and after school help is available for students in all areas of math.

The teachers of the Math Department are always busy giving a helpful hint or teaching a new concept. These teachers work their hardest in order to give each student the best education possible. Mrs. Holmes adds, "I have enjoyed working with such a wonderful group of teachers."

Ms. Carrie Summers assists Derrick Williams with a math question.
Mr. Jonathan Lind, a Geometry and Physics teacher, talks with parents during "Back to School Night."

The Science Department

What do you think of when you hear science? Do you automatically think of the human body or the natural living organisms of the world? Well, science ranges from learning about the human body to discovering different life forms that exist. The Science Department teaches many different levels of science which are earth science, biology, chemistry, environmental science, physics, anatomy, and physiology.

Eleven science teachers put all their hard time and effort into the success of their students. With Mrs. Betty Long, the head of the Science Department, all the teachers have a very congenial relationship.

"The experience has been diverse, but it has been a learning experience that has enabled me to develop a broad perspective of the educational process," says, Mrs. Long.

Chemistry teacher Mr. Laymond North explains a concept to his student Crystal Mayo.

The English Department

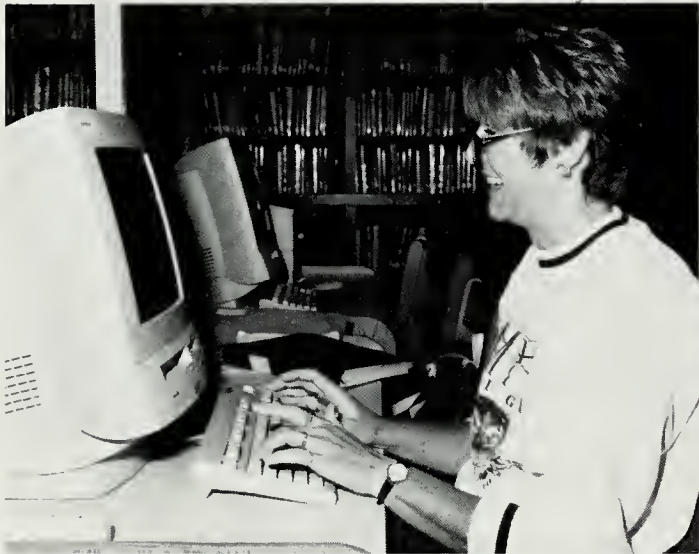

The English Department is headed by Mr. Gaylon Ryan. He believes that the Language Arts department is the strongest department within all Hampton city schools. This year's curriculum has been written to address the new SOL's. In fact, the English Department has been revised. Everything that is taught will be on the SOL's. This year teachers have no choice but to teach what is on the new SOL's because of the publication of the results during the year. "That which is monitored is done," says Mr. Gaylon Ryan. He also says that the English Department gives and always will give a solid contribution to the school and its students.

Mrs. Horne's senior AP class takes time from their busy lesson to pose. Mrs. Debra Kercher goes to the library to plan her student syllabus.

The areas of English are American Literature, Writing, and Cultural Diversity Studies. The new teachers in the English Department this year are Mrs. Oriel Robinson, Mrs. Susan Knight, and Mrs. Patricia Smith, a reading teacher. Mrs.

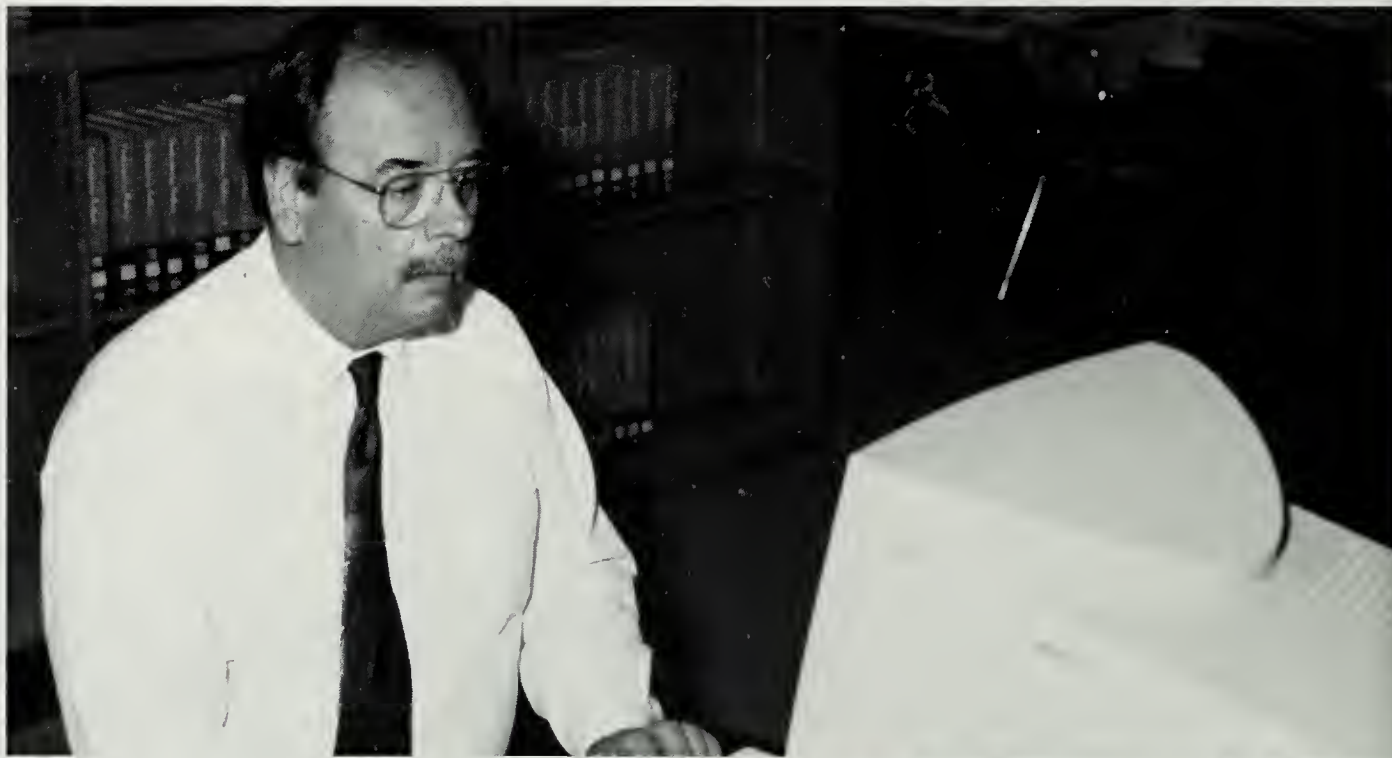

Debra Kercher, who is teaching 12th grade English for the first time this year says "Teaching seniors is especially enjoyable for me because it allows me to see how students that I taught four years ago have grown and matured. Nevertheless, there are no teachers in the English department that have made definite decisions on retirement.

The Social Studies Department

The Social Studies department is under the leadership of Mr. Ken Kaplan. The areas that the Social Studies department cover are World Geography, World History, U.S. History and U.S. and VA Government. There are two AP courses that are offered to students which are AP U.S. History and AP U.S. and VA Government. These two courses help students focus more on extensive reading and projects. This year the SOL's have had a major impact on the Social Studies department. It focuses on what will be taught and how it will be taught. The new State Standards of Learning have made the department revise their techniques of teaching. Mr. Ken Kaplan says "The areas that are the most important in Social Studies are learning about History and Politics. These areas play a major role in our lives."

This year the Social Studies department has added a new member to their department, Mr. Tony Spuill and Mr. Frank Adams plans to retire June of 1999.

Mrs. Snyder, an American Government teacher, speaks to parents at Back to School night.

The Business Department

The Business Department has new computers, a new lab, and new offices or their new staff. The department has been busy with a ton of activity this year. At the beginning of second semester, the Keyboarding and Computer Information System classes received Gateway computers, it's a good thing because it gives the students an experience with modern technology. The Department has not had a new lab since 1994.

The Business Department offers Keyboarding, Keyboarding Applications, Accounting, Advanced Accounting, Principles of Business and Marketing, Business Law, Business Management, Finances, Word Processing, Office Administration, and Office Specialist Information.

Business classes prepare students to handle personal, economic, and citizenship responsibilities wisely. "Every student should have a Keyboarding course before leaving high school," says Mrs. Janice Wilson, head of the Business Department.

The Business classes prepare students to deal with business and economic issues, as well as enabling them to deal with their own business affairs. Their goals for this year are to recruit aggressively and to encourage students to enroll in a business course. Business courses teach students economic literacy, so that they can be prepared to deal with business-economic situations.

The Business Team is wearing their new Gateway T-shirts with Ms. Janice Wilson, Ms. Judy Pine, Ms. Alvina Jones, Ms. Sabrina Beverly, Ms. Katrina Holmes, and Ms. MiVida Parham.

Ms. Beverly, Ms. Jones, and Ms. Parham brave the winter chill as they finish up the day's bus duty.

The Physical Education Department

The Physical Education Department is headed by Mr. Fred Hamilton. The goals set by the Department for students this year are getting students serious about health and fitness and looking toward the future. The Department offers an elective of advanced physical education to all students, which is taught by Coach Lanier Sanders. Freshmen and Sophomores are offered health and PE. "The department also supports after school sports such as basketball, football, track, and soccer," says Coach Walter Brower.

Ninth grade physical education and health courses are taught by Coach Walter Brower, Coach Lanier Sanders, Coach Karen Holley, and Coach Wayne Veryzer. In Health nine, students study units in Wellness, First Aid, Personal Health, the systems of the body, and family life.

Tenth grade PE and health courses are taught by Coach Chip Abbott, Coach Fred Hamilton, Coach Joyce Hobson, and Coach Patricia Mitchell. In this course students learn about Driver's Education and Alcohol Awareness.

Coach Lanier Sanders, Coach Fred Hamilton, and Coach Wayne Veryzer are planning to retire this year. Physical Education is a very important part of high school. Coach Fred Hamilton says, "One of the strongest points PE classes have to offer all students is fitness."

Daniel Bass and Antonio Pelhan play a hard game of basketball during their elective advanced gym class.

Mr. Fred Hamilton, Mr. Walter Brower, and Ms. Joyce Hopson stand and watch the halls together in between classes.

Nathaniel Cherry, Nicole Dixon, Ms. Patricia Mitchell participate in the selling of the football game tickets in the cafeteria during lunch.

Team Teaching

Students are enjoying the team teaching program which has been added to their curriculum. There is also a new English 12 class which is headed by Ms. Kimberly Moore and Mrs. Catherine Horne. Team teaching makes it easier for the teachers and students to help one another, when it's needed. If one teacher is absent, that teacher can be assured that there will be another experienced teacher there to help his or her students. It is also easier to teach the class because the teachers are able to work together.

"Team teaching is an effective teaching strategy, when both teachers collaborate in lesson planning and developing strategies for teaching," says Ms. Kimberly Moore.

Ms. Kim Moore and Ms. Brenda Poole pose for the camera while at lunch.

The Technical Education Department

The technical education classes are continuing to enjoy new options for the 98-99 school year. The technical education department specializes in teaching certain trades that will help students in the near future. Hampton currently offers photography, Home Economics, Technical Drawing,

Metal Shop, and Wood Shop in its technical curriculum. Those who take one of the courses offered have one step towards the job that they have set their minds on to succeed in.

These classes are the important basis of learning and working to the students fullest potential. Technical Education ranges from cooking a main course meal to building and constructing a house. Technical Education reaches out to a very wide variety of students.

Mrs. Linda Ellis helps Melony Goodman with a task on a computer.

Norman Coles takes notes while watching over his baby boy.

Air Force Junior ROTC

The third and fourth year cadets enjoy the summer Officer Training Program.

This year the AFJROTC has 136 cadet in the program. Many of the students in Hampton High may think that the Junior ROTC program is just about wearing the uniform. It's one benefit to the cadets if they decide to join the military service. This course also gives cadets the opportunity to experience life as a military person, and learn the science and history of the military. This portion of the course is taught by Col. Fred Repasky.

Hampton's Air Force Junior ROTC is more than just academics. The most distinguishing aspect of the ROTC is the uniform. Master Sergeant Nancy Brown teaches this portion of the class. She teaches the proper wearing of the uniform, military rank, the chain of command, military customs, and history of the military.

Outside of the basic or regulation drill in parades there are also separate marching teams within the corps. The Honor Guard consists of three different groups. There is the Color Guard, which is the team that presents the flags on special occasions like parades, football and basketball games, award banquets, pep rallies and assemblies. Then there are the two drill teams. One is the Unarmed Drill Team, and this team makes up their own routines for drill competitions. The other team is the Armed Drill Team and they also make up their own moves while working with wooden rifles. Both of these teams have to learn the regulation drill as well, for competitions. Second Lt. Melissa Harris says, "It is like a big family here at school. When there is a problem at school or at home, you have friends on the team you can talk to. This is the kind of activity to bring about new friendships. I know that it has for me."

C/Charles Aaron and C/Owen Keener are helping the patients play Bingo at the V.A. hospital with the Drill Team

The Fine Arts Department

The Fine Arts Department has always been a major success at Hampton, focusing on both art and music. Mr. Rick Allison is the director of the band. He spends time preparing the band for parades, football games, competitions, and graduation ceremonies. The band is also participating in a competition in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina this spring.

Chorus is a group of talented and gifted singers under the direction of Mr. Dean Schinn. The beginning level is acappella and the top two levels are Harmonics and Sapphire. Chorus participates in fundraisers, and has a trip planned to Florida.

The talented artists of Hampton also spends time competing. Coach Alvis Mann says "To imagine is everything" and displays of student art work can be found throughout the school building.

The Fine Art Department offers the only AP Art History course in the city of Hampton. Ms. Janet Rash says, "We help students pursue their goals, develop their talents, and live their dreams." Students are introduced to techniques in computer graphics, layout, video, photography, typography illustration and drawing. Students will be involved in the production of pieces that integrate technologies while they explore a variety of art careers. The Fine Arts Department is the key to our students future and success in life.

The WIN Program

The Work and Instructional Need (WIN) Program is in full operation for the 1998-99 school year. This program was established in 1992 to provide academic and vocational experiences for students with special needs. Their motto is, "We are Winners!"

The benefits for the students include: hands on work experience, learning job skills in a natural work environment, developing appropriate work ethics both in school and on the job, enhanced self-esteem, and increased chances for long-range success on a job.

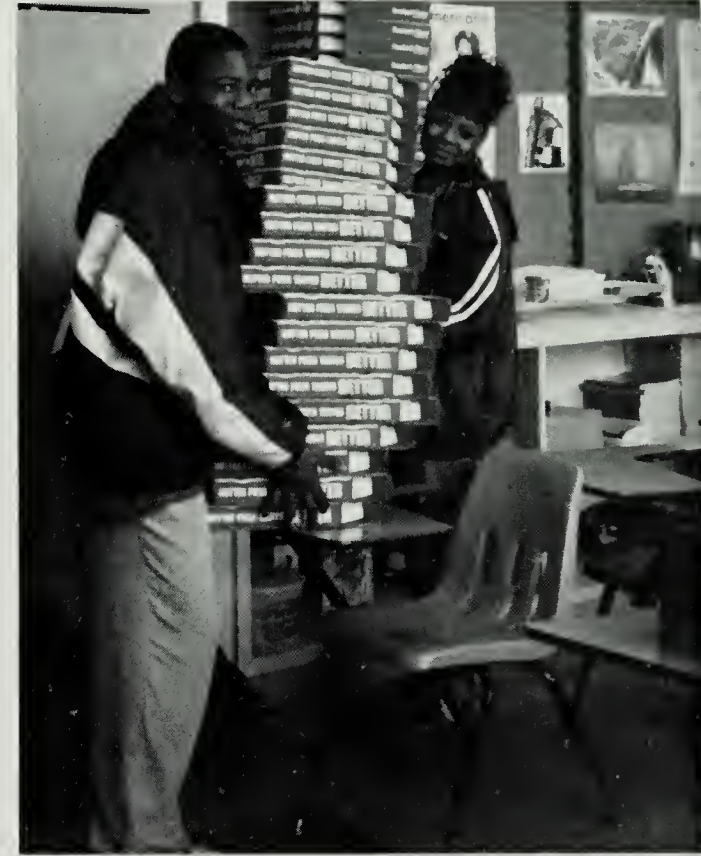

The WIN sponsor Ms. Pam Cook and co-sponsors Mr. Jonathon Penn, Mrs. Sharon Graham, Mrs. Freda Gist, Mr. Victor Goldsby, and Mrs. Pam Blackwell have worked diligently to establish a good business-community-school coalition. The coalition partners include: Wal Mart, Valeo Transmissions and Clutches Inc., Hampton University, Pentran, Hart McAlister

Community Center, and Hampton High.

Some things the program has accomplished include donating canned goods to the food drive, donating turkeys for the needy during the holiday season, and allowing students to work in and outside of school. Recognizing the students for their accomplishments, the club sponsors held a "9 Weeks Award Day." On this day the students with the highest grade average and perfect attendance are commended for their effort. The students receive movie passes, food passes, and gift certificates to the mall.

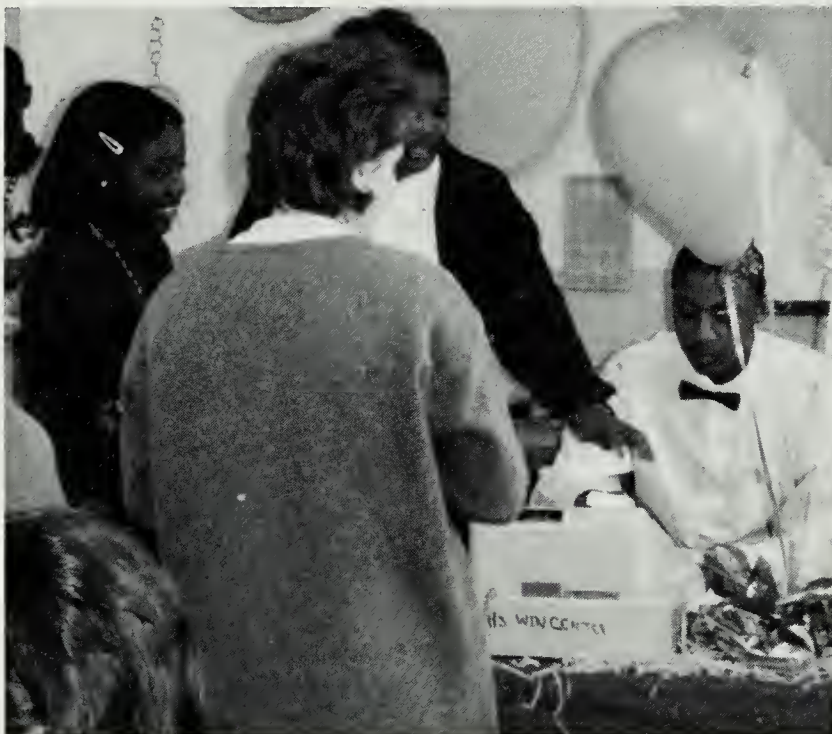

The benefits of the WIN Program and the business partnerships are reciprocal. The students receive life-long learning skills that help them become productive citizens; and the community and businesses realize a good investment in future workers who happen to be disabled.

Crabbers Do It Again!!

The 1998 Crabbers carried on the school's tradition of powerful football teams with a 9-1 regular season record and another first place finish in the Peninsula District. The team was able to come together after a loss in the season opener, stringing together nine consecutive victories and earning a three-way tie for the top spot in the District along with the Phoebus Phantoms and Heritage Hurricanes.

Throughout the season, the Crabbers proved that even with the loss of some key players from last year's squad, they are still a force in high school football.

The Crabbers endured their only setback early in the season in a grueling 14-8, five overtimes battle with Heritage. The loss snapped the Crabbers streak of 40 consecutive victories dating back to the 1995 regular season. The team rebounded from this and started another streak by winning their final nine games of the season. One of the most pivotal wins during this streak was the Crabbers thrilling 10-7 triumph over previously undefeated Phoebus. This victory put the Crabbers back in their familiar position at the top of the District. A 62-0 romp over Menchville the following week the Crabbers secured a spot in the playoffs for the 22nd consecutive year.

This team not only won, they also looked impressive while doing it. The Crabbers outscored their opponents by a whopping margin of 333-37 during the regular season. The team was led by a stingy defense which shut down opposing offenses and held the opposition to a measly 3.7 points per game during the regular season. The Crabber offense came to life after a disappointing start in the opener to average 33.3 points per game for the season.

HAMPTON CRABBERS MAKE HISTORY!

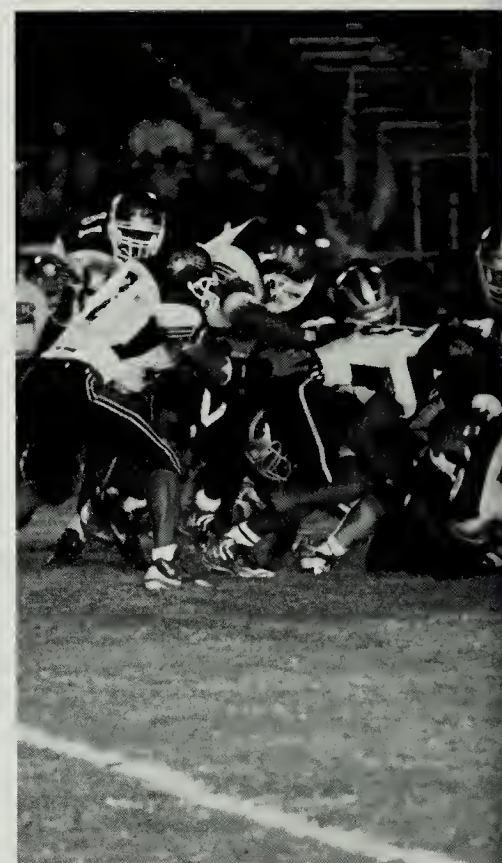

4-PeaT-4-PeaT-4-PeaT-4-PeaT!!

The Crabbers once again proved they are head and shoulders above all other competition with an impressive showing in the playoffs. When it was all over and done with, the Crabbers had captured the school's fourth consecutive State title, a feat never accomplished before.

The Crabbers road to the State title was a smooth one, as usual. After surviving a close 35-26 victory over a tough Deep Creek squad, the Crabbers turned it up a notch and showed no mercy on their remaining three opponents. The team made it seem as if their opponents weren't even worthy of being on the same field as the mighty Crabbers by decisively defeating their competitors. After slaughtering Phoebus 28-6 in front of the home crowd at Darling Stadium, the Crabbers traveled to Richmond and dominated previously undefeated Huguenot not to earn a spot in the State game. The Crabbers proved without a doubt that they were tops in the State with a 35-0 rout of Amherst that brought the State trophy back to its familiar place at Hampton High for the fourth straight season.

Four consecutive titles is an amazing achievement and, at one school, is something that has never been accomplished before and may never be duplicated again. Seniors can take pride in the fact that their team was best in the State all four years they attended the school. The Crabber run isn't over just yet, though. With a strong nucleus returning and new stars waiting to fill in for the departing seniors, the Crabbers are poised to accomplish the unthinkable and bring the school its fifth straight State championship.

“Crabber Girls Are On The Move”

Girls' Tennis

The girls' tennis team exploded during their season. They have let Hampton, as well as other teams, know that they are out there to win. With the support of each other and their coach, Ms. Trish Mitchell, they had a tremendous winning season.

The team really felt that they wanted to be noticed for the skills they have and wanted to be heard which they were. People who usually didn't pay attention to tennis actually started asking about their scores and who they'd beaten after they heard about their winning so many games. These girls really achieved their goal and made a great place in the books for themselves.

The girls finished their season out with an 8-1 for District and 10-1 overall. Nora Garcia of the Hampton Crabbers Girls Tennis says, "My team has made my last year complete, I feel like I can finish my Senior year with a bang!"

Coach Trish Mitchell says, "This is the most satisfying tennis team I've had in twenty years. These exceptional players, as well as ladies, have made coaching easy for me this season."

Arrianna Garcia returns the ball with force to the opposing player. The Garcia girls gave opposing teams a run for their money this season.

Swinging Around !

The golf team swung into action during the early part of August. The team practiced every afternoon, Monday through Friday, at the Hampton's Golf Course. The golf players for the 1998 season were seniors Kellyn Johnson, Brian Wentworth, Gabe Hillegass, Mike Westphal, and Josh Wheeler. The juniors were Noah Lively, Kritsadat Kachathan, a.k.a. "Folk," Jason Riberdy, and Aaron Venable.

Under the leadership of returning coach, David Blowe, the 1998 players improved their skill while playing on fine courses throughout the Hampton Roads area. Another privilege given to the team was missing school in order to attend a total of eight tournaments. The last tournament was played on the fifth of October at Fort Eustis.

Unfortunately, the team will be losing five key players this year: seniors Mike Westphal, Gabe Hillegass, Brian Wentworth, Kellyn Johnson, and Josh Wheeler. Senior Gabe Hillegass closes by saying, "We're shooting stars on the golf course."

Junior Noah Lively has only one wish for the next season, "I hope to buy a new set of clubs for next year."

After a long, hard day, Brian Wentworth puts up his clubs. Opponents watch Josh Wheeler and wish they could be as good as he is on the green.

Running with Cross Country

Cross country is a vigorous race, one that challenges the endurance, the competitive spirit, and determination of its participants in each meet. Many constantly confuse cross country with track--the truth is that track consists of various distances in every race. Cross country members run 3.1 miles (5000 meters) in every event with the terrain of each event consisting of rolling hills and trees.

This year's cross country team has less than twenty members. "Even though our team is small, we all are very competitive," says Denita Wilson.

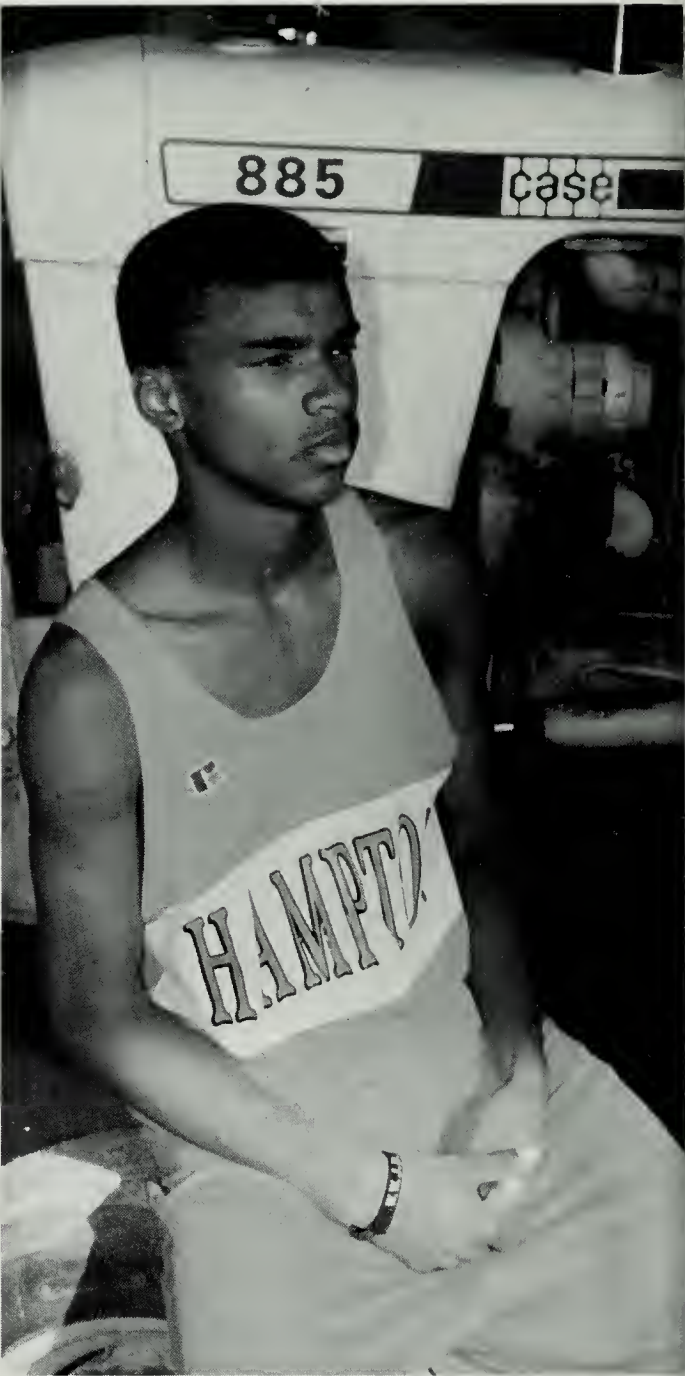

Cross country team members run almost ten miles a week to prepare for the meets. In a meet, seven runners represent the school in the event. However, the team as a whole may not make it to Districts.

This year's District runners were Nicole Belizaire, LaJontae Graves, Latasha McCoy, Angela Thompson, Kenny Jarman, Christopher Cox, Chester Booth, Noel Makubwa, and Michael Hobson. Nicole Belizaire says, "I ran my best time at District." Mr. Stanley Widener and Mr. David Six are the head coaches; sophomore Tia Artis is the manager. "We had a good season," says Coach Stanley Widener.

Sophomore Sandrean Locke stands with earnest concentration and determined poise before a meet.

All About the Best!

The 1998-99 Varsity Cheerleaders has had a very long and prosperous season, which began after try-outs, countless hours that began at 5:30 a.m. during the summer and NCA cheerleading camp at UVA which prepared them for their long season ahead.

Although many do not consider cheerleading a sport, the Varsity Cheerleaders continue to prove many wrong with consistent competition achievements, hard work, strength, dedication, and super abilities. Karyn Mallette says, "We're a great squad that can overcome change easily and still come out on top."

They are most commendable for their tremendous effort in urging school spirit and supporting the teams at pep rallies and games. "Cheerleading is exciting, invigorating, and challenging. The greatest experience of all," says Coach Marly Fullerton.

JV Cheerleaders Aim for the Top!

This year's J.V squad has worked hard to prove their ability as a squad. With an all new squad members, they had to exert a tremendous amount of effort to teach each other about cheerleading. Co-captain Latoya Jackson believes that, "It was a new experience, and we had a lot of fun." Practices started at 5:00 a.m. during the summer time in order to prepare for camp. Camp was held in August at UVA which involved three days of spirit, stunts, and cheers.

The co-captains are Latoya Jackson and Tameka Banks. Team members are Marnita Wiggins, Adina Colander, Ashley Daube, Nicole Pierce, Shannon Reed and Jessica Van Dyke. The team worked extremely hard every Saturday morning to cheer their team on through rain or shine. The J.V squad has definitely aimed for the top, taking no less.

J. V. Football Has Winning Season

The J.V. Football team opened the season poised and ready to make a run at the District Championship. Unfortunately, the Baby Crabbers got caught up in a "Hurricane" and were blown away by Heritage 38-0. The Crabbers looked to redeem themselves in the face of their seasons' opening loss, and they did in a big way by shutting out Kecoughtan 13-0.

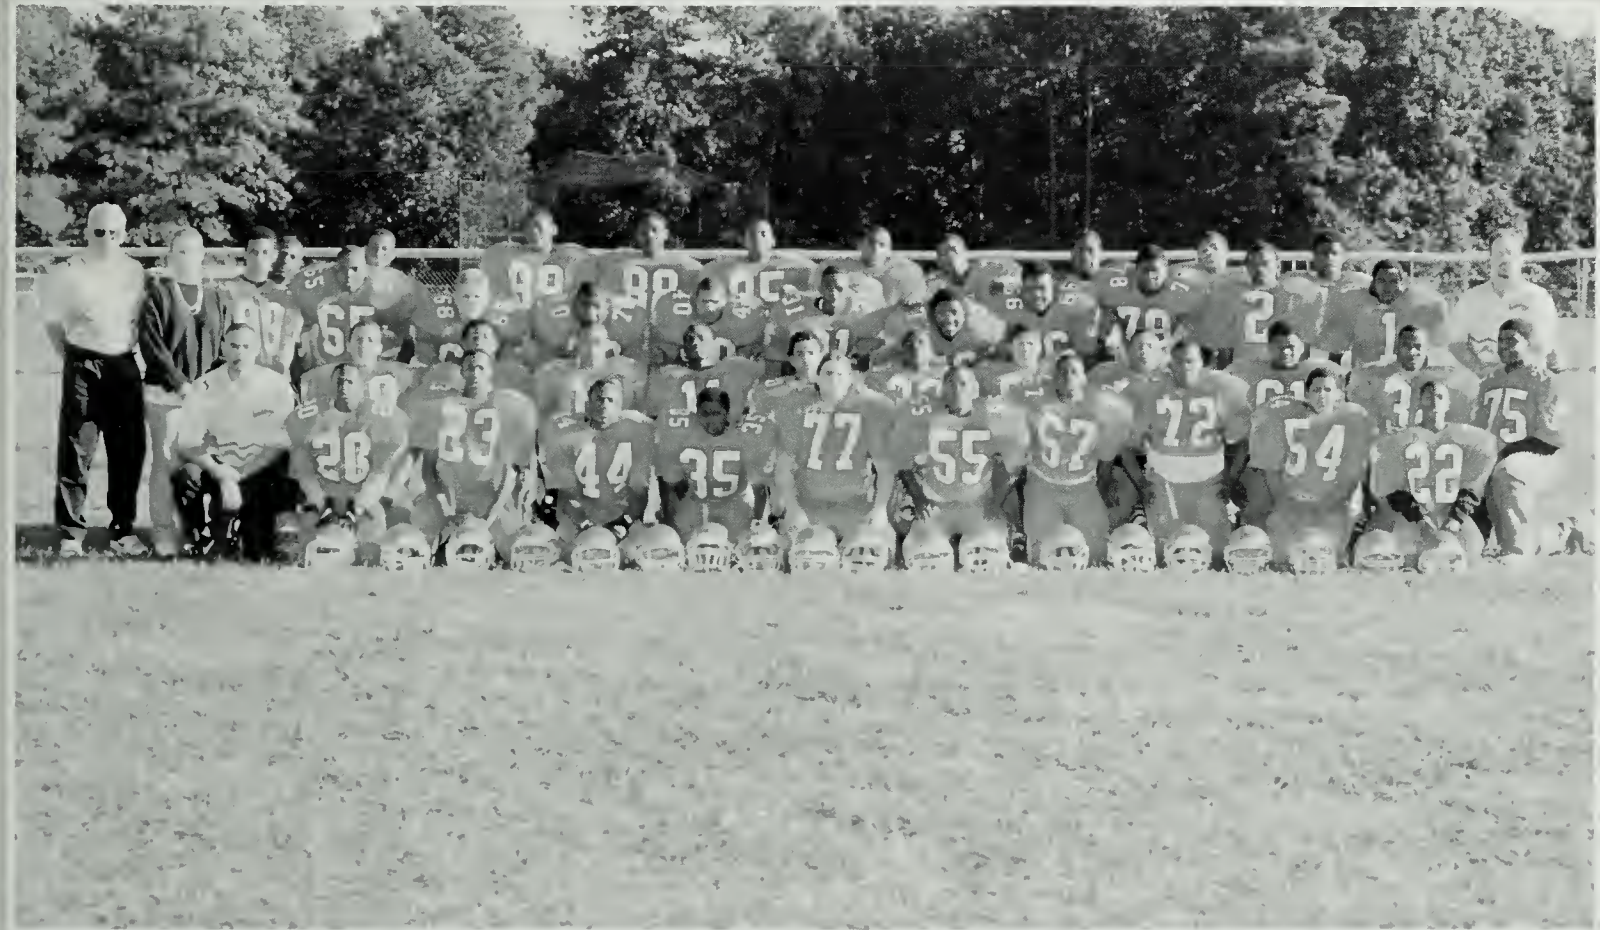

The Warwick High School Raiders would be the Crabbers' next opponent which would end up in a 21-0 loss. The Patriots of Denbigh High School would come calling the following week to play the Crabbers who were looking for victory number two, and they succeeded with the final score being 8-6. The team seemed to getting better week after week as the season went on.

Woodside High School, home of the Woodside Wolverines, put the Crabbers to the test once again. The Crabbers played an excellent game, going on to win by the final score of 28-22, and improving their record to 3-2. Throughout the Crabbers' last four games, two of them in which they emerged with victories against Gloucester (36-14) and Menchville (53-6). The Crabbers showed that they are one of the better teams in the District ending the season with a winning record of 5-4.

The Crabbers had a balanced attack led by Sophomore QB Earl Darnell and Defensive Lineman Marcus Ricks. The strengths of a good defense and a steady running game carried the team throughout the season. "We could have been better. We just need to keep working on the little things, the basics, and we will get better," says head coach, Mr. Tony Carlson.

The coaches of the team were Head Coach Mr. Tony Carlson, Assistant Coaches Mr. Ken Kaplan, Mr. Mike Carter, Mr. Kevin Carter, and Trainer Ms. Dianne Limerick.

Wrestlemania!

"Perfection was the goal," says Coach Tony Spruill and the wrestling team, and victory was the goal for all the Crabber team members. For the first time in five years there is someone to represent Hampton in a Regional Tournament. The team has worked very hard this year, made a lot of progress, and earned many compliments for the school.

Full of confidence, Coach Tony Spruill encouraged his team. The team was led by Ricky Hill who was number one in the District. Coach Tony Spruill and his assistant coach, Guss Diggs, have new plans for the team next year, and the expectation of a success. Coach Tony Spruill says, "We will win more dual matches next year."

Brandon Dudley says, "We went as far as we could, and we showed other teams that Hampton also has a wrestling team."

Travis Ricks says, "We formed with a great unity - together - everyone worked as a team, and Coach Spruill helped us to have self respect."

With a lot of dedication and many sacrifices this year was a good learning experience for the team.

Girls Indoor Track

Endurance, determination, and teamwork are three necessities to becoming and remaining a member of the girls' track team. Coached by Mr. Stanley Widener, the girls met all three necessities and turned them into successes. "These girls work hard everyday, and it shows at every meet," said Coach Stanley Widener.

Dedication is also a major part of being successful in running track. Practice is every day after school, consisting of two or three hours of hard work. However, Coach Widener gives the girls off on Sundays to rest sore muscles. "Track is all about no work and no play," said Nicole Belizaire. The team used this motto as a motivator and was willing to give 110 percent every day.

Latasha McCoy hands off the baton to Angela Thompson to win the 4x200m relay.

Key returnees included Nicole Belizaire, Rachel Kauffman, Latasha McCoy, Angela Thompson, Denita Wilson, and Terry Yarborough. Newcomers to the team eagerly worked to fill the empty slots the graduating seniors will leave. The most success came from the 4x200m relay. The members of the relay included Latasha McCoy, Denita Wilson, Rachel Kauffman, and Angela Thompson. Latasha McCoy has also succeeded in the 55m hurdles, and Nicole Belizaire was also a positive asset to the team in the 3200m run.

Boys Indoor Track

"Losers quit when they're tired; winners quit when they've won." This is the motto of the boys' track team. This year the '98-99 indoor track team progressed tremendously. With practice five days a week, combining distance with sprint workouts, and weight training the team got stronger everyday.

This year the 800m relay and the mile relay brought much success to the indoor team. The 800m relay team was Michael Hobson, Mark Locey, Daryl Cooper, and Christopher Cox. Both relays qualified for the Regional and State meets. The Regional meet was held on February 17, at Todd Stadium and the State meet at George Mason on March 6.

This year's boys' track team, coached by Fred Hamilton, were seniors: Mark Locey, Michael Hobson, Daryl Cooper, Deshawn Simmons, and Woodrow Scott; juniors Noel Makubwa, Kenny Jarman, and Christopher Cox; sophomores Antonio Pelham, Daniel Smith, Bryan Russel, and Malik Whitaker; and freshmen Levan McQueen, Chris Muldowney, and Kyle Scott. The team's hard work and dedication paid off, and they were very competitive throughout the season. "This indoor season was a learning experience and a chance for us to get ready for outdoor," said Chris Cox.

Varsity Boys' Basketball

The boys varsity basketball team had an exceptional season this year with the return of Johnnie Story, Almondo Curry, Marques Hagans, Hakeem Zarif, Jerame Southern, and Alvin Holmes. The newcomers this year were Mack Jones, Nathan Robinson, Marion Taybron, Frederick Conyers, Curtis Pender, Jeremy Daniels, and Nate Clouden.

The starting five for this season were Johnnie Story, Jerame Southern, Hakeem Zarif, Almondo Curry, and the fifth man was either Marques Hagans or Alvin Holmes. The fifth man depended on the opponent; if the opponent had three guards on the floor, then Marques Hagans would be the starter; if not, then Alvin Holmes would become the starter.

With the football season extended, it took about two extra weeks before basketball could start. Coach Walter Brower said, "I hope the football team is always successful, but it delays the start of the season, and it takes longer for the football players to get ready." So to help the team get started, the team practiced five days a week from 6:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Unlike last year, there was not a number one "go-to" guy on the team. "This year was more team oriented; whoever was playing well at the time would be the one shooting the ball," says Coach Brower.

With the talent that this year's basketball team possessed, it wasn't a surprise that the Crabbers won another district title.

Unfortunately, the Crabbers were only able to capture the district title. Hampton's season ended with a 53-59 loss to Princess Ann in the Eastern Regional Tournament. When asked what Almondo "Muffin" Curry thought about the season, he said, "As a senior I feel that we had a great season; with all the breakdowns we had, we managed to overcome everything and continue on."

Hakeem Zarif grabs a rebound with authority over Menchville defender.

Jerame Southern hustles for the ball against Heritage.

Marques Hagans skys over his defender for the easy lay-up.

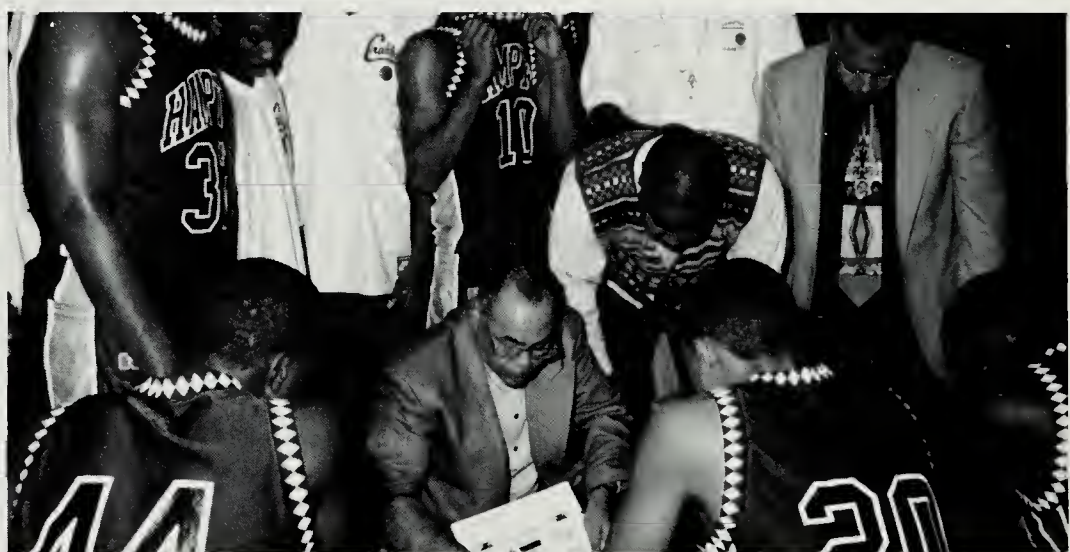

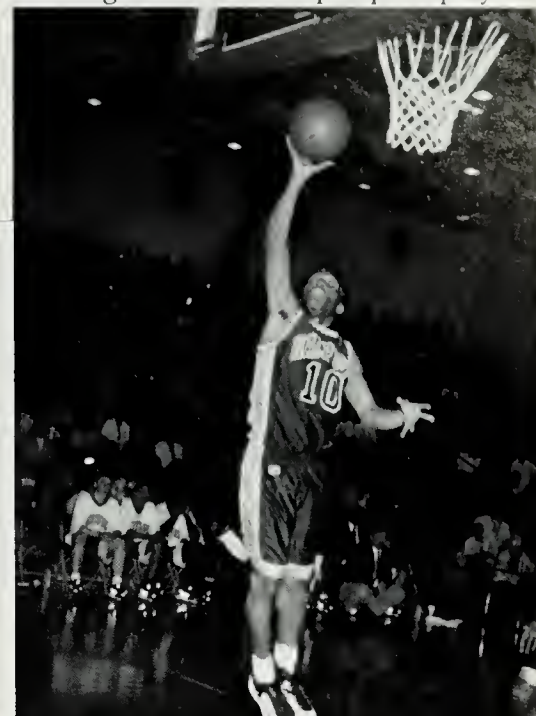

Johnnie Story breaks down the Phoebus defense.

Almondo Curry makes a nice pass around Menchville defender.

Center, Muffin Almondo Curry eases by the guard for two points.

Bottom, Coach Walter Brower gets the team together to draw up a quick play.

The girls' varsity basketball team consists of 11 players. There are five new players on the team this year. There are also two new assistant coaches, Mr. Chris Fox and Ms. Shonda Bailey. The team also has a "new" returning head basketball, Mr. David Six.

The team played all year round, and they attended one basketball camp, at Camp Karen at the Apprentice School. The team played their summer and fall leagues at Wilson High School in Portsmouth. They went all the way to the championship in the summer league with a 10-1 record. During the fall league, they were 4-3, and Shanda Sturdivant received the MVP Award. Shanda says, "This year's team was very committed to winning and wouldn't settle for anything less. The team was very big inside which made it easy for us to score."

The girls squad rolled this year even though the season started late and they were three games behind.

During the winter break the girls were in a Christmas tournament. The girls won two games during this tournament. After the tournament Tacara White said, "What we did every day in practice showed what we did in games."

The girls went beyond regular season play to Districts, for the first time in four years. They were defeated by Gloucester in the District competition.

JV Boys' Basketball

This year's JV basketball team came into the season looking to make a run at the District title. The team played well all season long and paved their way to a (13-5) record. The Crabbers beat every team in the District, except for Woodside where they lost by close margins in both games in which the second was a two point overtime loss. In their 13 victories they defeated Gloucester (58-28) and (80-34), Heritage (51-47) and (59-58), Warwick (58-45) and (57-56), Denbigh (76-71), Bethel (64-50) and (63-50), Phoebus (63-50) and (61-54). The Crabbers also had victories against Kecoughtan, and Menchville.

The team improved every game as the season went on winning seven out of their last eight games. These group of young players came together and played very well. Only four of the nineteen players on the squad played JV last season. The Crabbers finished really strong and played competitively every game, and that was the reason for their success this season.

The team was led by Gary "Monsta" Smith, Deon Tynes, John Whitaker, Jimmy Williams, and Solomon Sabrell.

Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball

The Junior Varsity Girls' basketball team had a very successful season. They worked very hard to bring a good name to themselves and to the school. The JV team had six returning players who knew the ropes, and they had seven new players to bring some new talent to the team.

Their season started on December 15, 1998 by playing Kecoughtan, and the team finished it up February 11, 1999

by playing Menchville. All the players enjoyed playing and interacting with the other players. "I liked playing basketball this year because it was a chance to meet new people and learn new things," says player Ashley Hart.

"The J.V. girls basketball team has done a good job. They had an even, winning season. I would like to thank all of the young ladies for their time and effort," says coach Ms. Karen Holley.

Lady Crabbers !!

Swim Team Stays Afloat!

Hampton High's swim team started conditioning in the early part of November by building endurance and lifting weights. Their hard effort certainly improved their strokes and speed. This was undoubtedly a great season for the Crabbers.

Mrs. Regina Contreras returned for her third season as head coach. With the help of Ms. Janet Rash, assistant coach, the team developed a new sense of perseverance. The captain for the boy's team this year was senior, Aaron Cuker; the girls team was led by captain Nora Garcia, also a senior.

The swim team added in its size this year by having twenty three members compared to last year's nineteen members. The swim team's meets were held at Hampton University's Holland Pool and the Midtown Community Center.

This year, three Crabbers were qualified for State meet: Aaron Cuker, Nora Garcia, and Arianna Garcia. These members worked hard for their achievement. With the help of Mrs. Contreras, Ms. Rash, and the support of family and friends, the team has been very successful this year.

and SCA officers take time from their schedules every second and fourth Tuesday of each month to meet with students interested in making their school a fun, as well as an academic place to learn.

During the 1998-1999 school year, the SCA has been responsible for a number of school activities, which include, Spirit

Week, Hallway Decorating contests, and a Pumpkin Decorating contest. SCA was also responsible for the Spring Fling, Block Party, Thanksgiving and Christmas Drives, and a number of school dances along with the help of the Journalism staff.

"SCA helps boost students school spirit; you learn and have fun at the same time." says Sophomore, Gloria Hopson.

"I was president of the SCA in sixth grade when I attended Lindsay Middle School, so I have always enjoyed holding leadership positions," says Senior and SCA president Lela Meekins.

Student Advisory Council

SAC addresses and works for changes dealing with school suspension, safety, diversity, and drug/alcohol prevention. This organization has worked to decrease the rate of suspension along with drug and alcohol abuse by organizing and sponsoring activities such as, Ribbon Week, Acts of Kindness, school-wide lock-ins, and retreats in addition to working with the SIPS program. They initiate a safe and peaceful school environment. "It is a valuable group that allows students to have a voice on impacting changes and being involved in school to create a healthy school environment," says sponsor Ms. Katrina Hines.

The officers for this year are Cortney Chatman, President, Bryan Press, Vice-president, Shavell Davis, Secretary, and Denita Wilson, Parliamentar-ian.

A week before the winter break, they held a retreat for projects and bonding. "It's a learning experience to grow and develop with the people around you," freshman Jessica Jackson says. SAC sold holiday grams and raised over two hundred dollars for two needy families and three angel tree children.

They have been targeting to Lindsay Middle School students that are coming to high school, to help decrease the rate of suspension. SAC held a forum/assembly to address issues to the student body. Hopefully the students have gained a better outlook on different aspects of life in high school. "It's a fun group that deals with important issues," senior Daryl Cooper said.

Student Action for Education

Student Action for Education is also known as "Future Teachers of America". This club is sponsored by Mrs. Catherine Horne, a 12th grade English teacher.

The club is primarily for seniors, who are interested in education. In order to become a member, you must obtain a GPA of 2.3 or above. The purpose of the organization is to assist students who are interested in education and want to learn more about the career.

The goal this year was to get a scholarship for books to be awarded to a senior SAE member. "I enjoyed being in SAE this year; we had a good time. I will miss the opportunity to be in it next year," says said Joseph Shaw, club member.

SAE has done a variety of things, in school and out. This year they have sold

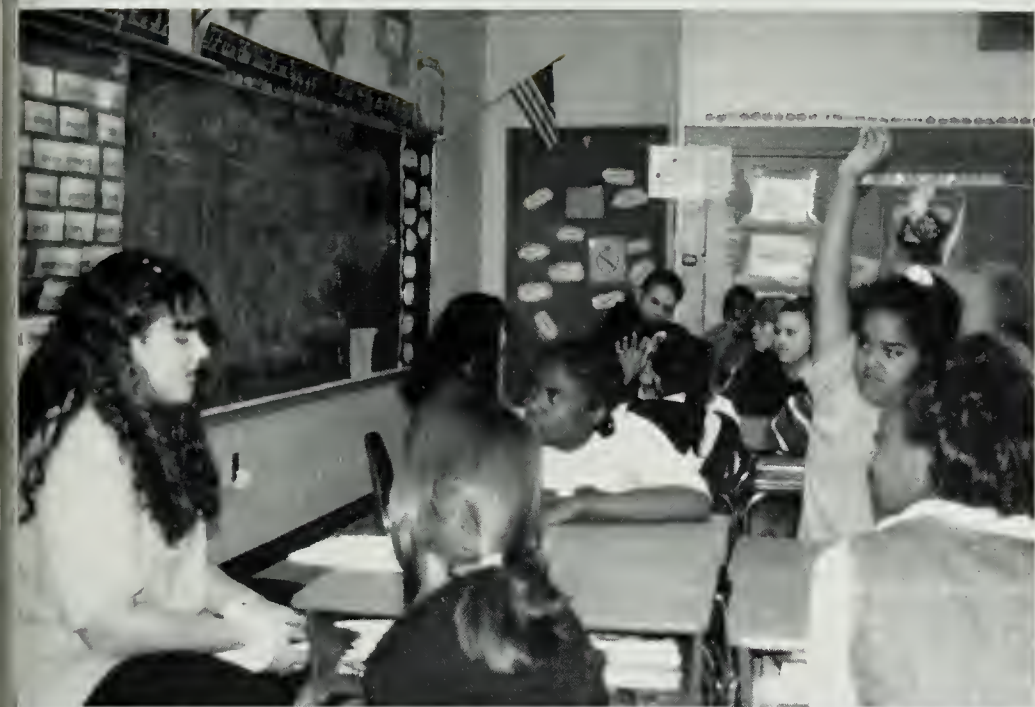

Christmas grams, shadowing of teachers, food drives, clothing drives for the needy and much more. "The students in the club this year were very cooperative, and we achieved a lot. I hope I have a group like this next year," says sponsor Mrs. Catherine Horne.

Natural Helpers

Melinda Cotter teaches the children about self-esteem

The Natural Helpers program is based on the premise that young people can support each other, and make responsible life choices, as they relate to a drug and alcohol-free environment. The Natural Helpers Program, sponsored by Mr. Jim Thompson, trains high school students to become leaders and mentors to both their peers and younger students. This program provides an organized setting for fun, alternative activities for its members, and an opportunity for the members to serve both in the school and on community projects. Skills in decision-making, role-modeling, and communication are also part of the program.

Ashley Ellis, says, "It feels good to know you are making a positive effect on little children." The Natural Helpers visit Armstrong, Machen, Aberdeen, Lee, Burbank, Wythe, Tyler, Cooper, and Bassette Elementary Schools. Jamal Whitehead says, "I couldn't imagine being in anything except Natural Helpers."

Antaeus

The Antaeus Society has had quite a busy year. Last year they started an Oyster Restoration Project in conjunction with the Chesapeake Bay Foundation and two-thousand oysters were placed into the bay. This year they are working with The Hampton Clean City Commission and a group called YEAH to add another six-thousand oysters into the bay.

"The Oyster Restoration Project is by far the most important project we have been working on this year," says sponsor Ms. Joyce Corriere.

The project itself calls for a lot of work, yet they still schedule time to do regular beach clean-ups as well.

The Antaeus Society planted two Red Maples in front of the school in honor of two Hampton High students that died in a bus accident earlier this year. Trees were also planted for a city-wide tree planting event.

This spring Antaeus plans to continue the whale presentation with elementary schools to further alert children of this endangered species. A life size seventy-five foot long whale will be presented.

"The Antaeus Society has given me a better awareness of what's going on in my surroundings, and how I can make a difference," says senior Antaeus member, Chris Dowdy.

The Antaeus Society has helped to increase awareness involving environmental issues. Antaeus has inspired us all to take better care and improve our environment.

Keyettes

The purpose of the Keyettes' organization is to provide opportunities for young women to become involved in community service and philanthropic endeavors. There are 30 members this year and new members are inducted at the end of the year. To be inducted, you at least need a 3.0 GPA, good teacher recommendations, and a desire to participate in community service.

A Keyette is a young woman who serves her community through varied service projects. She volunteers her time to helping others. The Keyettes' goals are to baby-sit for the Armstrong PTA, ringing the bell for the Salvation Army, "A Night's Welcome" for the Homeless, conduct food drives, and give Angel Tree Gifts.

The officers for this year are president Melinda Cotter, Vice-president Nora Garcia, Secretary Cheryl Taitt, Treasurer Laura Crocker, Historian Emily Smith, Parliamentarian Taneka Johnson, and Chaplain Megan Hillegass.

As far as Homecoming went this year, the Keyettes did a wonderful job. Their float for the parade tied for first place, with the theme of "Reach for the Stars." They sold Homecoming mums as well.

The Keyettes' community service works included projects such as selling Pancake Jamboree tickets for the Exchange Club of Wythe, holding a canned food drive for Thanksgiving, and participating in giving gifts for the Angel Tree at Christmas time.

For fun, the Keyettes' had secret pals, participated in a Progressive Dinner in December and had a sleepover in February. In the spring they have one final activity which is their annual picnic to induct the new members.

To become a Keyette is something to be proud of. Miss Sadler, the club sponsor, says, "This year we have tried to do projects oriented toward giving our time to the community. We're really pleased with the results."

Key Club

The Key Club, a service oriented club and a community organization is sponsored by Mr. Ron Holloman. "Whatever you do, big or small, do it well or don't do it at all," he says.

We've been working hard this year and we've established ourselves as a legitimate club," says Gabe Hillegass, the President of the Key Club.

The members continue their tradition by participating in community service projects. "I enjoyed working with Mr. Holloman and my fellow club members," says Josh Wheeler, the vice-president of the Key Club. The Hampton Kiwanis attended the Key Club meetings to be more involved with the area Key Clubbers. The Hampton High Key Clubbers continued to attend the Hampton Kiwanis meetings as well to enhance the interaction between the two organizations.

Along with the service to the community, the Key Club participates in three different school tutorial programs. "I really like participating in the activities that we have done," says Mike Westphal, the treasurer of the Key Club.

Student Aides

Throughout the school day there will always be a teacher, guidance counselor, or some other staff member who will need a little extra help. They may need someone to run errands or even help them around the classroom in some way; that's where Student Aides come in. Teachers or other staff choose students as aides on the basis of students' academic background, students in study hall, or some students volunteer their free time to lend a helping hand.

Jerame Southern, who is a student aide for guidance counselor Mrs. Debbie Ludwig says, "I enjoy helping other students." He has the opportunity to inform students about when to take their SAT's, how to obtain their transcripts, and he also shows new students around the school. "Jesse King and Kenya Williams are excellent student aides for Data Processing. They know their tasks, are courteous to parents who come in, follow directions, and are very responsible," says Ms. Sheila Dillard, who works in Data Processing. Student Aide, Shannon Seidnitzer, who helps journalism teacher Mrs. Mary Waters this year says, "I enjoy helping out in any way possible, and I love having free time between classes." She helped create bulletin boards for the journalism showcase in the hallway and also helped with candy sales for the journalism classes.

Student Aides not only help others, but they also better their personal development and self confidence.

Project Discovery

Project Discovery is a group that informs students about the benefits of going to college and financial aid. It helps students form higher standards for their future.

This year's club is sponsored by Ms. Michelle Armstrong from the Office of Human Affairs.

Group members explore their options by visiting different local and state colleges and sometimes by traveling abroad to colleges like Spelman and Moorehouse. They attend workshops that explore subjects from picking a career to SAT's. Earashea Knight says, "I think Project Discovery is a great club, and anybody would benefit from being in it." Project Discovery meets twice each week. On Mondays the group listens to different speakers from colleges. On Wednesdays they have Study Halls where students can do some of their schoolwork.

The Project Discovery

officers for this year are: Tameka Thomas, President; Jamal Batten, Vice President; Damion Wilson, Secretary; and Lameka Devone, a Reporter.

"This was my first year in Project Discovery, and I have enjoyed it a lot," says Lameka Devone.

DECA is a group that helps develop future leaders for marketing and management. The sponsor of DECA is Mrs. Carol Rollins. "DECA provides opportunities for the average student to excel. Through competitive events, students are able to attend District, State and National competitions," says Mrs. Carol Rollins.

Each year the Coliseum Mall has the Little Mall, where DECA students help children shop for their families. "The Little Mall is a rewarding and exciting experience," says member Michelle Griffin. DECA officers are President Nikkia Jones; Vice-president Lindsay Broughman; Secretary Tamara Barnes; Treasurer Candice Anthony; and Reporter Shene LeSuir.

CHROME

During the 1998-99 school year, the Cooperating Hampton Roads Organization for Minorities Engineering (CHROME) club has been sponsored by Ms. Olive Hopson and Ms. Virine Streater. The club has approximately 25 members and the criteria for membership consists of a 2.8 grade point average and members cannot miss more than three meetings. The president of the CHROME club is Monique Sheard, and the vice president is Angela Byrd. The secretary of the club is Martha Gay, and the treasurer is Jason Riberdy. The parliamentarian is Reggie Watson, and the newspaper correspondants are Amber Terry and David Sullivan. This roster is scheduled to change because new officers are elected in May and take office in September of the following year. The purpose of the CHROME club is to increase the number of minorities and females in the field of math, science, and the technological fields. The goals of this organization are to increase the number of memberships in CHROME and to encourage students to strive for academic excellence. One sponsor of the CHROME club, Ms. Olive Hopson, had this to say about its effect on its members, "CHROME has been very beneficial to its members and has enhanced their outlook and interest in math, science, and technology. It has given its members a sense of friendship and developed confidence and self esteem. It has enabled them to earn scholarships and summer internships. It has given them a sense of pride in an organization that has provided under-represented students a chance to meet their goals."

Computer Club

The Computer Club was organized to educate students on how to operate different types of computer software programs. These skills are being used in today's society. Club member Martha Gay says, "The computer club is a wonderful organization to be in, because it emphasizes computer knowledge that will benefit you in other classes and can be used throughout life."

"We've worked hard to learn new computer programs and do a lot of practicing to prepare ourselves for 'The Great Computer Challenge'," says Sarah Bowers. Students have the opportunity to use their skills at "The Great Computer Challenge" which is held in March at ODU, where teams compete for trophies.

Club members work on mastering computer programs such as Power Point, Music Delux, and Page Maker. The sponsor, Ms. Laurie Skinner says, "I really enjoy working with the kids."

Academic Team

The Academic Team is an academic competition sponsored by Mr. Thomas Bell. The team competes with other high schools in the district and in the country.

The competitions consist of questions from 14 different categories. The categories range from government and health to useless trivia. During practice, Mr. Bell drills team members on questions that would be in the competition.

The team has high hopes for this season. They had a 2-3 record after the first 3 matches. "We're doing a lot better than last year's team," said Mike Lucas. Mr. Bell said "This year's team represented Hampton High well."

MGA/MUN

The Model General Assembly is a club for students interested in the workings of government and politics. During meetings, the members vote on various bills proposed by the group's members.

The club participates in numerous activities through the school year. One of these activities is through a local branch of the MGA called the Model Judiciary Program. At the end of January, the students performed mock trials through the program. They recreate trials, and then they take on the roles of lawyers and witnesses. They use the downtown Hampton court rooms, and Hampton judges preside over the case.

The club members are: Kindra Richie, Tiffany Hoefs, Taylor Maida, Lakisha Blackley, Katherine Helmintoller, Christopher Dowdy, Matthew Turman, and Jessica Mandell.

The Model United Nations is for students who are interested in international problems and their solutions. During the year, the club participates in a Model United Nations. The students imitate United Nations' delegates and participate in discussions of issues important to the world. Hampton High School will represent Kuwait in this year's meeting. The meeting takes place at Old Dominion University in Norfolk during the month of February.

Mr. John Belloch, the club's sponsor, believes that the group has struggled during the year to get organized. He says, "Several have made strong progress to make the year successful."

Do you like challenges? Do you like to get your point across? Then you should join the debate team. The sponsor of the debate team is Ms. Sarah Black who is the Latin teacher. "We hope to increase our membership, publicity, surrounding events and improve on our reasoning skills," stated Erell Finch, the president of the group. The Vice-president is Stephen Sawyer.

The Debate Team competes against schools all over the Peninsula and the Southside. They competed against Warwick High School and Salem High School on March 6, 1999. Both Stephen and Erell have won matches at previous tournaments in December and October. They also attended a league-wide training in September.

FBLA, Future Business Leaders of America, is sponsored by Mrs. Mivida Parham. It is an organization whose purpose is to develop the qualities necessary to become a responsible business leader. A student must be enrolled in a business course for the '98-99 school year to be in FBLA. "Professional students, professional FBLA celebrates the football season at the parade.

teachers, professional lives, professional goals, and keeping our lives professional," says Mrs. Mivida Parham about the organization.

There were 20 members of this club at the beginning of this school year, but now they have increased to 27 members. The President is Brandon Timmons; the Vice-president is Alton Moore; Secretary, Rebecca Kandra; and the Treasurer is Sarah Boone. "It's experience for the future," says Sarah Boone.

Their accomplishments for the '98-99 school year have been candy and doughnut fundraising sales. They expect to participate in the State and Regional competitions in the spring; they are also planning to attend Walk America for the March of Dimes, and participate in Dimes Worth a Difference.

FHA

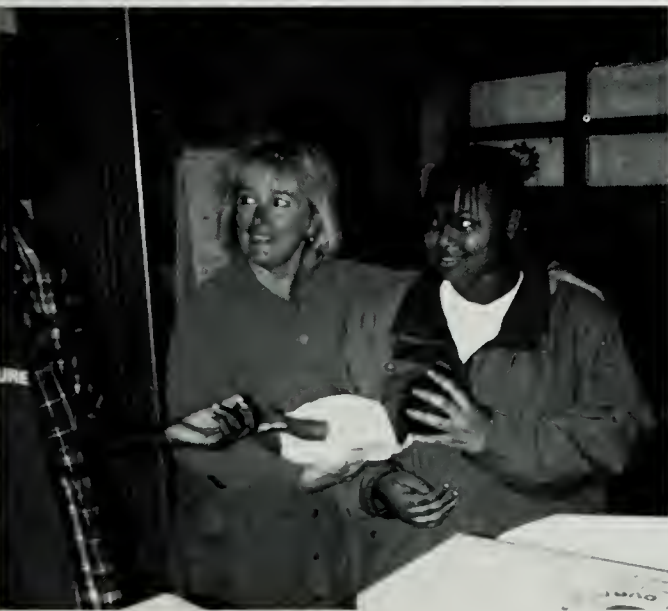

The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) is an organization which is directly related to the Work and Family Studies Classes. Members of this club are enrolled in these classes. The club's Board this year included Shauna McGlone, Lykeshia Osborne, Sherika Knight, Simonea Washington, Anthony Eley, Theresa Bebout, Janese Cherry, and Cherrie Bass.

This club has done numerous activities this year. "For the month of December we participated in the stocking drive, filling four to give to the less fortunate," said Mrs. Luanne Ryan, FHA sponsor. Also this year the FHA made a contribution to the Battered Women's Shelter. They also had a FHA holiday celebration and were planning a spring cleaning. When asked how she felt about FHA this year senior Shauna McGlone said, "I enjoyed working with the people and participating in the activities for my year in FHA."

Technology Student Association

The Technology Student Association is a club which teaches students to use the modern technology of today. In this nationwide organization each member receives the opportunity to broaden his knowledge about technology. The technology used in the club consists of computer work and labs.

Sponsored by Mr. Maury Middleton and Mr. Jim Thompson, TSA members participated in the 1999 Spring Conference. The leaders of TSA are Chris Misenheimer, President; Antwan Whiting and Marcos Gonzalez, Vice-presidents; Tonya Gardner, Secretary; and Bradley Johnson and Sadie Smith, Treasurers. The club officers and sponsors have arranged an exciting and educational year.

VICA

VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, is dedicated to developing vocational students and future employees of industries. The club VICA, is giving the students the chance to experience the world of work. The motto of this organization is: "Prepare for leadership in the world of work." That is what the students have to abide by in order to be in the club.

The sponsors, Mr. Ron Holloman and Mrs. Barbara Blackwell, work to instill the qualities needed for the world of work. Mr. Holloman and Mrs. Blackwell also emphasize skills needed in a job to every student in the organization, VICA. The students also do a lot of hard work to better themselves in what they do.

The officers of the club are

Shawnda Lee, President; Alexander Johnson, Vice president; Nikisha Dickens, Secretary; Michael Moore, Treasurer; and LaShell Venable, Reporter. Those are the people that help to keep the club running with the help of the other dedicated members. "It has given me, and others, a chance to be a leader and to express ourselves in the world of work and make us feel more responsible," says the president, Shawnda Lee.

"It is a great learning experience. It gives students a chance to experience in the world of work," says Alexander Johnson.

Terrence Shelton says, "VICA prepares students for the real world, letting them know how it feels to jump from the frying pan to the fire."

Forensics

Wednesday after school in room 118 is where you will find the Forensics Team. They might be preparing for an upcoming meet or working on their skills in public speaking.

In order to join the Forensics Team, a student must pass at least five subjects, have a flexible schedule, and must have self-confidence.

This year's officers are: Jen Webb and Erell Finch as Presidents; Tim Scheffler as Vice-president; Holly Saunders as Secretary; and John'ice Hill and Troy Yarnell as Publicity Chairs.

Mrs. Susan Knight, Team Sponsor, says "The Forensics Team is small, but the performers are committed to excellence in the art of public speaking."

Jen Webb adds, "It's more work than it appears; you often get to a competition and have to make adjustments to your piece at the last minute."

The Forensics Team clearly shows that hard work, time, and effort definitely have rewards. As Tim Scheffler says, "It's a good way to make interesting friends, and spend more time with the old ones."

Drama Club

The Drama Club and International Thesbian Society is sponsored by Mr. Rick Allison, who is also the band director. The purpose of the Drama Club is to find students who are talented in theatrical arts and give them a chance to use their talents. During the winter the Hampton Theater Company performed the play "Here and Now" by David Rogers. "Drama is interesting and fun. It gets people who are different together," says Aprille Dunbar one of the Drama Club students.

The International Thesbian Society is also part of the Drama Club. The International Thesbian Society is an honorary society for drama members who have given much to the production of the club and are selected for membership.

The Volleyball Club

The Volleyball Club was started due to the high interest level of the female students. They are following the lead of Bethel High School, which is the only other Hampton City School with a volleyball team.

Volleyball takes place in the fall.

Learning the game has been a challenge for the girls because they have had to unlearn some bad habits, according to the coach. The club has moved from a P.E. class level of knowledge to a much higher level of skill. A

Lady Crabber, Tiffany Whitaker said, "All the drills we do make your arms sore and bruised, but I'm getting used to it."

According to Coach Sam Eure, sponsor, "Volleyball is another avenue to build up and show off the caliber of Hampton High talent. These young ladies will only get better." Coach Eure and the Lady Crabbers hope that volleyball will be an official sport next year.

Seafarer

"This year's Seafarer staff has created a beautifully designed and artistic literary magazine," said Ms. Janet Rash. Together, she and Mr. Max Jarrell share the responsibility of sponsoring this organization.

The purpose of the Seafarer is to publish the highest quality of written and visual creations produced by Hampton High students. Its goals are to find the best art, essays, poetry, and short stories, and then layout, type, design, and print them. Then they distribute the magazines through sales.

Peer Mediators

Peer Mediators, according to sponsor, Mr. Isidore Kessel, "Help people find a peaceful solution to their problems, and the program is an alternative to disciplinary actions."

To become a peer mediator, a teacher must recommend the student, and then the student must be interviewed. The student cannot have any disciplinary actions against them. Only twelve stu-

Chorus

Chorus is four classes divided into different levels according to musical experience. Mixed chorus is the beginning level; A'Capella is the second level; and Harmonics and Sapphires are the top levels.

The H.H.S. choir department is nationally ranked, first place award-winning department. The purpose for chorus is to increase vocal music awareness in the school. The goal for chorus is to provide a service to the school and community through a variety of projects and musical performances.

The chorus department participated in the Homecoming Parade by decorating a float, and singing a variety of different music. They also held a Christmas concert with the band at Hampton High. Both the Chorus and Band departments are looking forward to competition in the District finals in Florida.

The club sponsor is Mr. Dean Shinn; the current officers are Shannon Thorton, president; Karen Griffen, Vice President; Betsy Trimble, Secretary; Monica McNair, Treasurer; and Aprille Dunbar, assistant treasurer.

Marching Band

The Pride of the Peninsula, the Crabber Marching Band, has just ended another great season, proudly representing the red and white as one of the finest bands around. The Marching Band gained its recognition for their dedicated support to the football team, as the team's season extended to the State Championship game in December, and the band traveled with them in full support. "This season went well for us; we had our share of ups and downs, but that just brought us closer together," says Mario Smith. The Marching Band also won honors for their participation the Aberdeen, Phoebus Day and Hampton Holly Day Parades.

In addition to the Marching Band, the Auxiliary includes Danceline, Flagline, and Majorettes, all of whom contributed much hard work to help the band achieve their goals with their moves that have impressed crowd. "This year the auxiliary accomplished many things, and I feel that we were the best," said Captain Taurea Avant.

After Marching Band season came to an end, the concert band and VIP jazz band presented a Winter Concert on December 16. Both then prepared for the Spring Concert and the Fiesta-Val competition in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The band "with class" is under the direction of Mr. David Rick Allision.

Jamic Hamiel

Jamic Hamiel, A seventh grader at Lindsey Middle School has been with the Crabber Marching Band since last year. His brother Scotty Hamiel used to bring Jamie to band camp everyday while he babysat him. Former Drum Majors Terrence Shelton, Terrance Whitaker, and Sharon Middleton then took Jamic under their wings until he knew the show and some of their moves. "Jamic, when he gets older, will one day be Hampton High's Drum Major once he gets here," says Terrence Shelton. Jamic nows studies band at Lindsey Middle School.

Krabba/Krabba Highlight

The Krabba and Krabba Highlight staffs have truly been busy this year with news stories, club news, sports, editorials, and features. Mrs. Gwen Parker teaches a class of Journalism I and Mrs. Mary Waters teaches Journalism I, II, III, and Yearbook. Both teach the students responsibility, preparation, and timeliness. Although it seems easy on the outside, it is surely a different approach from the inside. This year, the total number of students combined in both Journalism I, II, III and Yearbook students is roughly 120.

An "A" or "B" in English is needed to have Journalism as a class because it is counted as an English elective.

The other factor is that students must be upperclassmen. Activities are both academic and organizational. The staffs so-sponsored the Homecoming and Sweet-heart dances, did many fundraising activities, and worked on both publications. Each student has an assignment and must prove himself in his writing and participation in activities.

AFJROTC

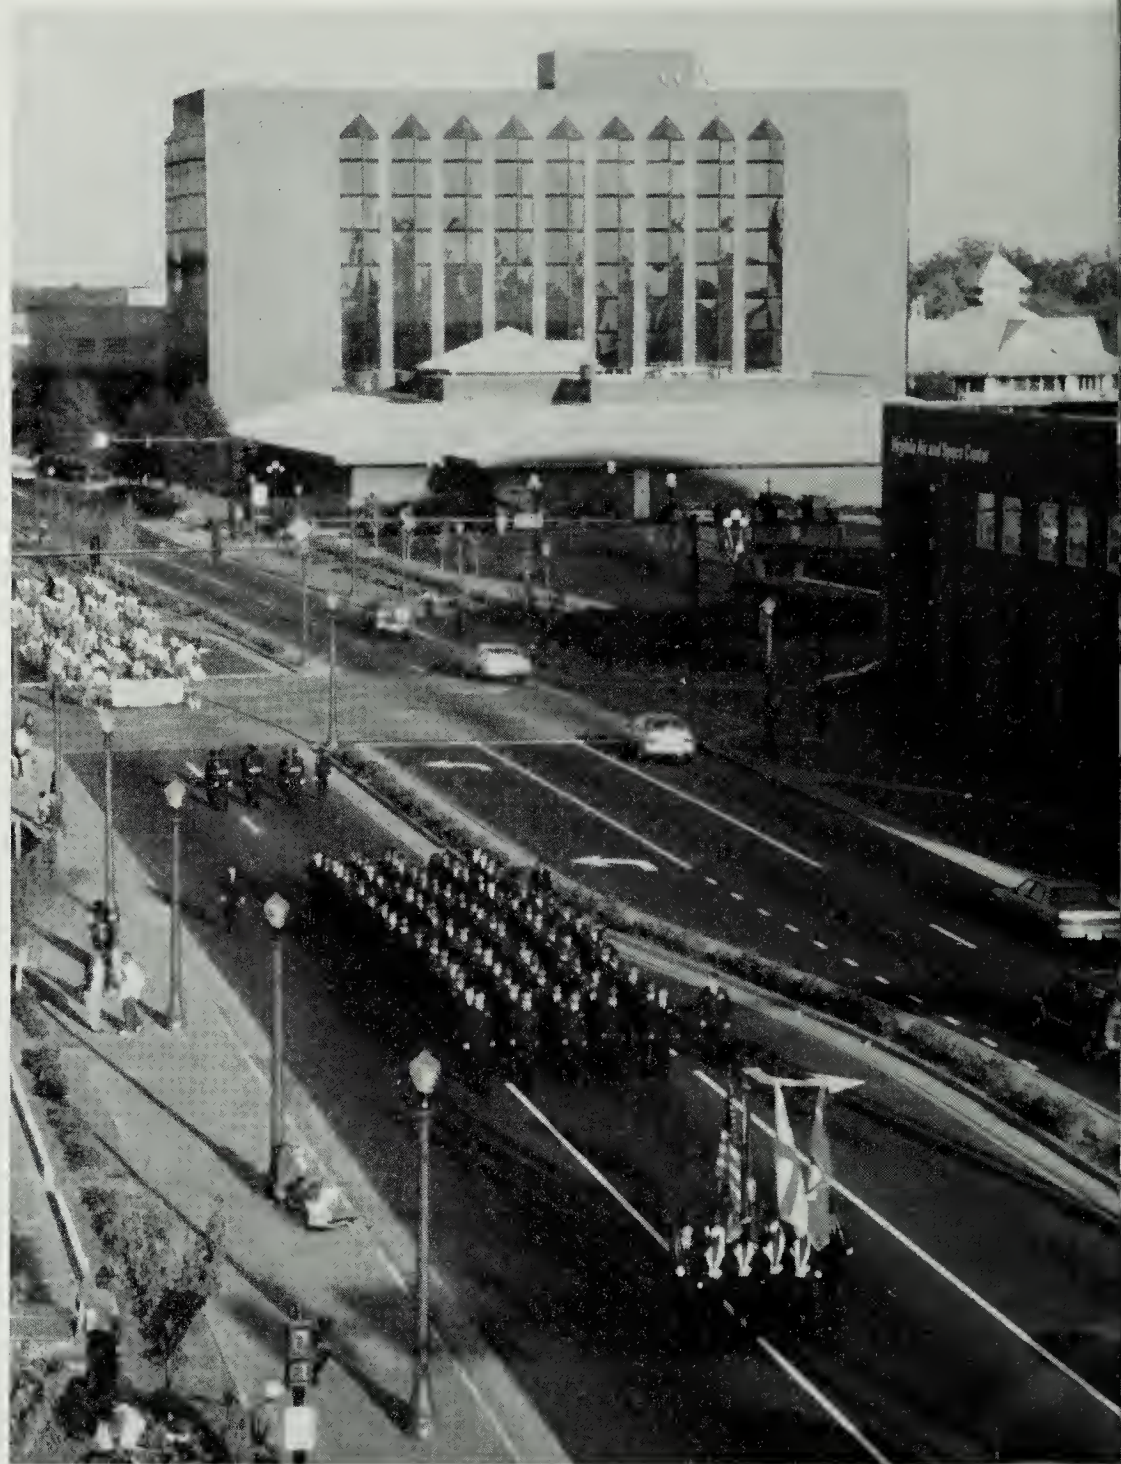

The Air Force Junior Reserve Training Corps (AFJROTC) is truly something to be proud of. Their goal for this year is to build better citizens for the community. It seems as if the cadets are always sacrificing their time, energy, and efforts to improve the community. Whether it is a city-wide parade, clothing drive or just beautifying the school grounds, the cadets are happy to lend a helping hand.

With a cadet corp of over 130 cadets, Msgt. Nancy Brown and Col. Fredrick Repasky have their hands full on a daily basis. The first activity on the schedule this year was the Air Force's 51st birthday, which the cadets celebrated with a party in the cafeteria. The cadets continued to be busy for the rest of the year - they marched in the Deen's Day parade, helped out in St. Vincent's soup kitchen, went to the VA Hospital and helped out at the Salvation Army.

The ROTC does more than just marching and community work throughout the course of the year. Now the ROTC is providing a new service - awarding SAT and ACT scholarships to deserving cadets. Col. Repasky and Msgt. Brown selected members of the cadet corp from the junior class that have a GPA of at least a 3.0 average. There is also an ROTC scholarship for college, which will be awarded in late May.

In February, the ROTC participated in the school's annual Blood Drive. During the month of March, cadets attended their annual Military Ball. In May, not only will the cadets attend both the awards banquet and the squadron picnic, but also they will participate in their pass and review for the principal. The AFJROTC is one of the 12 programs that exist in Virginia and one of the best.

Mu Alpha Theta

Mu Alpha Theta is a National Mathematics Honor Society. Mu Alpha Theta is composed of students who have a 3.0 or better average in mathematics and have completed Algebra II. This year Mu Alpha Theta has 25 members who are in classes ranging from Elementary Functions to BC Calculus. The club sponsor is Mrs. Carolyn Holmes.

This year Mu Alpha Theta's sponsor and members are not only tutoring to help Hampton High students improve their mathematics grades, but they are also tutoring at C. Alton Lindsay Middle School and Armstrong Elementary School. The students tutor on Monday at Lindsay Middle School and on Thursday at Armstrong Elementary School.

Cheryl Taitt, President; Angela Bryd, Vice-President; Nora Garcia, Secretary; Taurea Avant, Recorder; April Cox; Parliamentarian. Cheryl Taitt, president, says, "Mu Alpha Theta is geared at improving the quality of students' understanding of math and having an open mind to the possibilities of mathematics."

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is an international honorary organization for outstanding journalism students. It was founded in 1950, and the Hampton Chapter is sponsored by Mrs. Mary Waters and Mrs. Gwen Parker.

Students need to have a recommendation, be in the upper third of their class, and need to have taken at least two years of Journalism; students must also exhibit leadership qualities and be responsible citizens.

Induction ceremonies will be in the spring, and the outstanding students will receive a pin, a certificate, and a subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Ann Stovall, is an honor club that promotes appropriate recognition for students who show outstanding accomplishments in the areas of character, leadership, scholarship, and community service.

To be eligible for membership, a candidate must be a member of the junior or senior class and have been in attendance at the school at least one semester. Candidates must have a 3.5 cumulative grade point average, and are also evaluated on the basis of service, leadership, and character.

During the fall, the organization spent most of the meetings planning and deciding on projects for the year. Some of those projects included a food drive in November, Toys for Tots in December, and many other community projects. In the spring the club worked in the community and participated in a tree planting project.

In addition to those activities, members were required to choose two individual service projects, one for each semester, in an area in line with their talents and interests. They were a success.

Mrs. Ann Stovall comments, "The people in this club are a great group of people."

"I believe that the National Honor Society is a great program because the members are given the opportunity to do individual service projects of their choice. The National Honor Society is very beneficial, and I'm glad to be a part of it," states Nora Garcia.

There are 38 members of the club. The officers are Cheryl Taitt, President; Nora Garcia, Vice President.

The German Club, sponsored by Frau Brigitte Dobbins, is back for another great year. The German Club is geared mostly towards helping the community, and also to exposing students to German culture.

This year the German Club has sponsored a canned food drive and a toy collection for needy children. They also purchased a ham and donated it to a needy family at Thanksgiving.

When asked about her thoughts on the accomplishments of the German Club this year, Frau Dobbins had this to say, "The German Club has really come a long way. The officers, members, and myself enjoy the work we do to help the community."

Each year the German Club has greatly increased in the number of members. This year there are 38 members. Many of these members ran for office. The elections were extremely close. The officers of the club for the 1998-1999 school year are Rachel Blair, President; Dianna Bisbee, Vice-president; Tonya Gardner, Secretary; and Roxi Bayan, Treasurer.

"It has been a great year for the German Club. I can't wait to see what next year brings," says member Rachel Blair.

Latin Honor Society

What is the Latin Club and Honor Society? The Latin Club is an organization of students that are enrolled in Latin classes. All of the students in the club have outstanding grades and good school spirit. They all share a certain feeling for the Latin language, even though it's no longer being used as a common language. The Latin Club is involved with national organizations, including the JCL, which is the Junior Classical League. In addition to helping out with numerous school services and projects, they have also done many things in and for the community. Each and every one of the members in the club has a great attitude, and like Ms. Sarah Black, sponsor, says, "We strive to make Latin enjoyable and accessible, and to give back to the school and community." The members have a lot of fun doing what they do in Latin club, and take pride in their organization's achievements. Melinda Cotter, a member, says, "Latin Club is a lot of fun, and we've been doing more lately to establish ourselves as an active organization."

French Honor Society

The French Honor Society is sponsored by Mrs. Kathi Driver. Members of the organization must earn an "A" average in French and a "B" average in all other classes for two semesters to be considered a candidate. The purpose of the organization is to promote French culture.

The members of the Honor Society are not only the best when it comes to academics, but also the best when it comes to community projects. This year, members assisted with the Siemens Automotive's Christmas party for employees' children. They also participated in the International Food Tasting Festival during the month of December, and had a group dinner at Aaron Cuker's home.

"The entire Honor Society has been great in giving a collaborated effort to help out in the community," says the president Aaron Cuker.

Spanish Club and Honor Society

The Spanish Club and Honor Society have been actively involved in our community. The purpose of the organization is to recognize high achievement in Hispanic studies. To qualify for membership students must be taking Spanish or be fluent in Spanish.

The president of the Spanish Club is Keith Johnston, and the vice-president is Nora Garcia. The secretary is Stephanie English, and the treasurer is Natasha Plum. Senora Marly Fullerton is the sponsor of the Spanish Honor Society, and Spanish Club.

The Spanish Club and Honor

Society recieved a thank-you letter from The Friends of the Homeless Shelter after donating food on November 25, 1998. They also sponsored the homeless children, participated in the food drive for the holidays, and helped out at the Seimens Automotive holiday party. The Spanish Club and Honor Society have a trip planned to New York over Spring Break. "The Spanish Honor Society has many people this year, and I look forward to doing many interesting activities," says Emily Smith, a junior.

Business Partners

For many years, Hampton High School has been affiliated with Siemens Automotive and Todds Lane Veterinary Hospital as business partners. These partners enable the school to have a successful and productive relationship with the community.

Opened 1971 in Newport News, Siemens Automotive specializes in the production of fuel injectors. Noted clients include Chrysler, Ford, Volvo, and Mercedes-Benz. With approximately 47,000 employees, Siemens Automotive ranks number two among the world's admired electronics companies. They are also affiliated with CNU, Thomas Nelson, ODU, and the United Way.

With about 400 manufacturing sites worldwide, Siemens conducts business in 190 countries. With an industry that now demands expertise in software as well as hardware, Siemens is well prepared to serve customers seeking those few supplies that can meet a wide range of their needs.

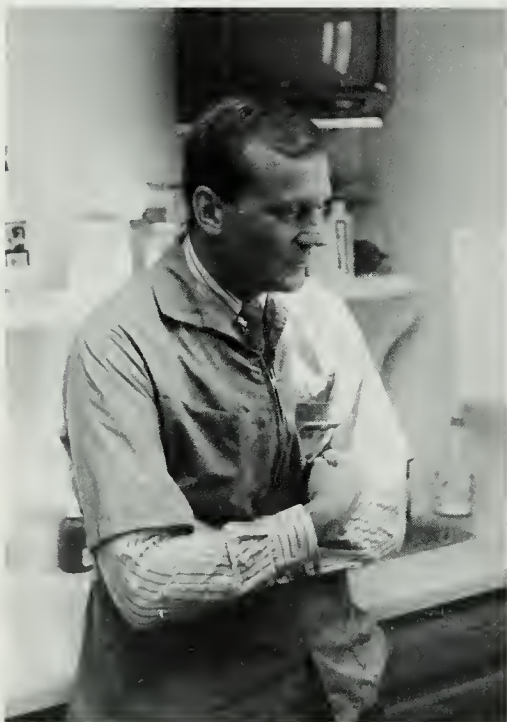

Ms. Grindly Johnson, a public relations official at Siemens states, "Besides Hampton High School, Siemens conducts business with student groups as well. We try to educate and enhance awareness of electronics and other technological fields." Siemens sponsors a community bulletin board that highlights certain events of the school. Not only does Siemens sponsor the CHROME, Atoms, Beams, and reading programs, it also gives students a chance to tour the facilities and participate in some technical training. In return Hampton High gives out tickets to company members that want to go to football games.

The Todds Lane Veterinary Hospital is located in Hampton and has served the community for many years. The hospital takes care of animals ranging from cats, dogs, turtles, birds, reptiles, and many more that become ill. It also works with animals from Busch Gardens. The hospital performs operations, X-Rays, checks for parasites and rabies, and gives various vaccinations. "The hardest part of my job is when we have to put the animal to sleep," says Dr. David Brinker. Overall, Dr. Brinker enjoys his job and loves to care for animals that are in need of special medical attention. "We also venture out in the community to students at Hampton who are interested in veterinary science." The hospital also advertises in the Hampton Bulletin

These business partners are an extension of our school. They provide an outreach for students, various other businesses and companies, and the community.

More Money, More Problems!

Everyday more and more students join the work force. To have a job is a big responsibility. The student must find a perfect balance between school work, home-life, and then a job.

There are many reasons students decide to take on the responsibilities of a job. Some students get a job simply because they want extra spending money. Many students join the work force, because they have expenses that need to be paid for, like car insurance or credit card bills. Seniors have many extra expenses throughout the school year too, like senior pictures and the cap and gown payments. Many seniors also need to raise money for college expenses.

Lameka Devone holds a plate of shrimp before she serves it to a waiting customer at IHOP.

The most common jobs for a high school student are in retail sales and food service, although some work in other fields. Long hours can be a problem for many students. "It's hard waking up early to go to school, then going to work and getting home late everyday," says AMC 24 Supervisor David "Saucy" Sullivan. These long hours can cut into a student's free time as well. Tanika Sharp says, "It's tiring working, going to school and practice; sometimes school gets left out." A job can be rewarding if you are big enough to handle all the responsibilities that go along with having one.

"Dance to the Music!"

The Homecoming Dance

The 1998 Homecoming Dance was held on Saturday, October 10 at Northampton Community Center. One main focus of the evening was the presentation of the Homecoming court, including the nominees for the 1998 Homecoming King and Queen. The Homecoming king was Almondo Curry, and the queen was Lela Meekins. After the court was announced, they danced to the theme, "My All."

Many students said they had fun at the dance. "It was exciting, I saw a lot of friends and had a great time," said senior Chris Dowdy.

The Sweetheart Dance

This year was the first year that Crabbers really had a successful "Sweetheart Dance." The Sweetheart Dance was held Saturday, February 13 at Northampton Community Center. The dance was a semi-formal affair that was open to all students and their sweetheart.

Even though there wasn't a lot of participation, "The Valentine's Day Dance was still nice," said Lameka DeVone. Junior, Michelle Griffin said, "The Valentine's Dance was off the blicker."

Kisha Stokley and Reggie Watson enjoy the Sweetheart Dance.

Jean McCray and her sweetheart are dancing at the Valentine's Dance.

The Military Ball

On Saturday March 13, the 1998-99 Military Ball was held at the NCO Club on Langley AFB from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. It was a gala occasion for those ROTC cadets that attended. The 1998-99 king and queen were Jesse King and LaKisha Wilson.

Senior Cynthia Tyler stated, "Out of the three balls I have attended during high school, this was the most memorable."

The 1997-98 Queen, Lela Meekins, crowns the new 1998-99 Queen, LaKisha Wilson.

Can't Crush This!

The home of the Crabbers is where the mighty crab has reigned for 103 years, sybolizing pride and school spirit. In 1951, the students of Hampton decided this mascot needed a name. William "Tommy" Pinkston named him "Freddy." All over the school, Freddy the Mascot, is shown in many different ways, but all proving the same thing:

"You can't crush a crab,
you can't crush a crab.

You fight, fight,
rip and roar.

You try, try,
try some more.

The red and white will always fight.

YOU CAN'T CRUSH A CRAB!"

Brandon Mills

To Our One and Only!!!!!!!

The happiest day of our lives was on July 13, 1981 when you were born. You were so tiny and precious that we knew we had someone very special. Over the years you have come from being such a tiny precious baby to an innocent little boy, and now you are such a talented young man with a lot of great qualities. You have always been full of so much energy, joy and laughter, you always seem to make everyone smile when you are around. We count our blessings every day for you. Thanks for making us sooooo proud.

Brandon, always strive for your dreams and goals, and you will succeed in everything that you want out of life.

Love always,
Mom and Dad

Remember: Be Somebody. God didn't take time to make a Nobody.

Our Dearest Daughter Angela...

Blessed is the daughter that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

Blessed is the daughter that maketh the Lord her shepherd.

Blessed is the daughter who realizes that a good name is better than precious ointment.

Blessed is the daughter whose speech be with grace, searched with salt, that you may know how to answer every man.

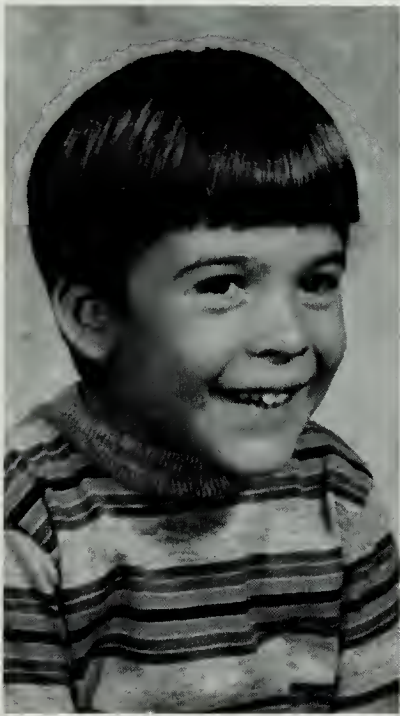

Blessed is the daughter who goes to school, goes to college, gets married, and then starts a family-- in that order.

*Blessed are you Angela for being our daughter.
Congratulations on your commencement from high school.
Much success in all your goals and endeavors.*

*Love Always and God Bless,

*Our first born child, you were so loud and of you now we are so proud.
You graduate having done so well
there are some things I'd like to tell.
Your looks are sharp, your will is strong you've done us proud your whole life long.
You made us laugh, you made us cry.
and now it's time to say good-bye;
But not for long; we'd like to say,
You'll be back soon (but not to stay).
You, on your journey we'd like to bless;
just don't you leave your room a mess!
Now as you go along your way,
there's one more thing we'd like to say:*

We all love you!

Awakening the Best in Every Young Person

"You brought out the best in me."

That's what graduated students from Hampton City School's Leadership Groups have told us. They say their experience helped them land and advance quickly in a good job, improve their chances to get into their college of choice, and to feel really good about themselves. It's not surprising that once young people discover the best in themselves, they start to see the best in those around them. Groups consist of students, faculty, parents and staff from Alternatives. It's a unique opportunity for students to work with adults and make a positive impact on their school. There is one Leadership Group in every secondary school in Hampton. Make sure you check one out.

Congratulations "Little Man"

What a fine young man you have become. Thank you for bringing us so much joy and happiness these past 17 years. You have made us very proud. We wouldn't change anything about you. You are your own individual and that is what makes you so special and unique! You have touched the lives of so many people.

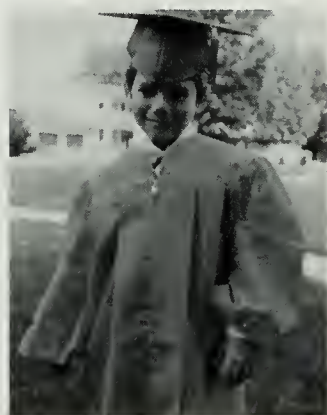

Continue to do your best; keep believing in yourself and you WILL become whatever you choose to be, your dreams will become a reality.

Your life is what YOU make it.

 SMILE ***

May life's richest blessings be yours.

WE LOVE YOU AND WILL ALWAYS BE THERE FOR YOU
